A tale of the Oracle's existence has been passed down through the ages. One story that survives reveals that The Oracle Is No Myth.

In ancient days there lived a ruler of Lydia by the name of King Croesus. During the mid-sixth century, B.C., his great rival, the Persian King, Cyrus the Great, wished to gain control of Lydia. Croesus developed a plan to protect his kingdom. He would ask an oracle to predict the future. To detect which of the seven most famous oracles was the greatest, he concocted a clever ruse.

King Croesus sent out seven messengers, one to each oracle's shrine. Exactly 100 days after their departure, they were to ask to same question of each oracle. The question was: "What is King Croesus, son of Alyattes, now doing?" Upon reply, each messenger was to return to Lydia as quickly as possible to report the answer to the king.

The only surviving reply was that from the Oracle of Delphi situated at the foot of Mount Parnassus in the Temple of Apollo.

The messenger that Croesus sent had scarcely entered the shrine when the oracle spoke without hearing the question.

"I can count the sands, and I can measure the ocean; I have ears for the silent and know what the dumb man meaneth:

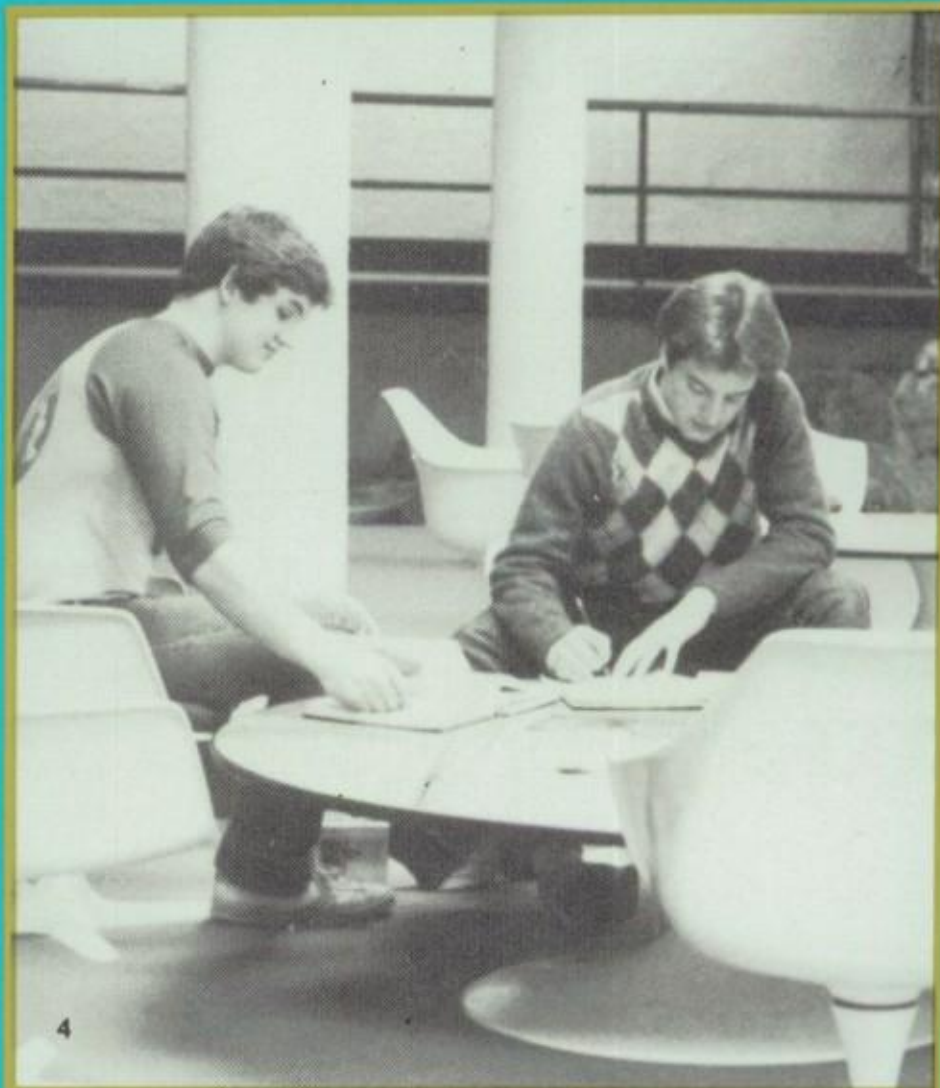

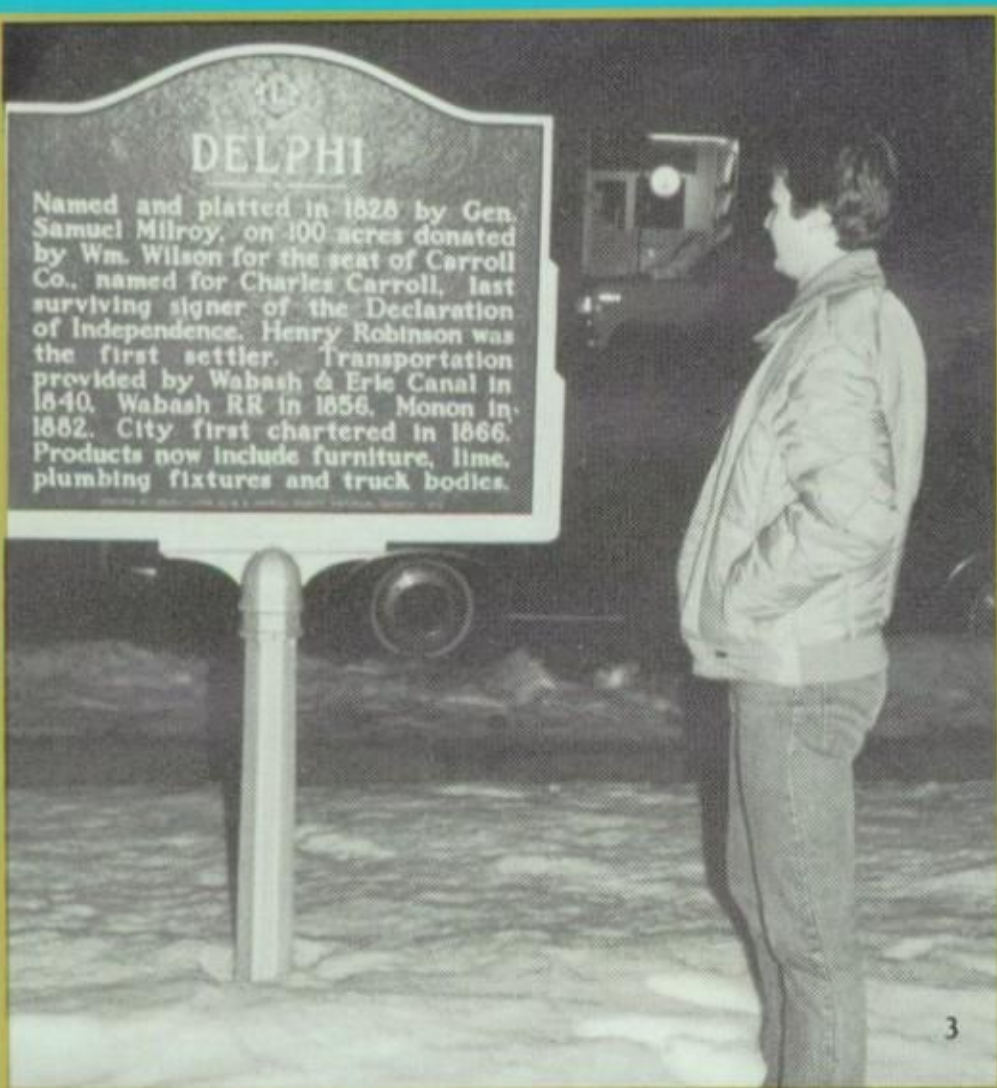

Lo! On my sense there striketh the smell of a shell covered tortoise, boiling now on a fire, with the flesh of a lamb in a caldron — brass is the vessel below, and brass is the cover above it!"

The Messenger took the reply back to Croesus who immediately recognized the powers of the Delphian Oracle. On the day that the test was to have taken place, King Croesus had picked a most unlikely thing to do — he had taken a lamb and a tortoise and had cut them into pieces, and then boiled them together in a brass caldron with a brass lid. Thus, great is the power of an Oracle of Delphi!

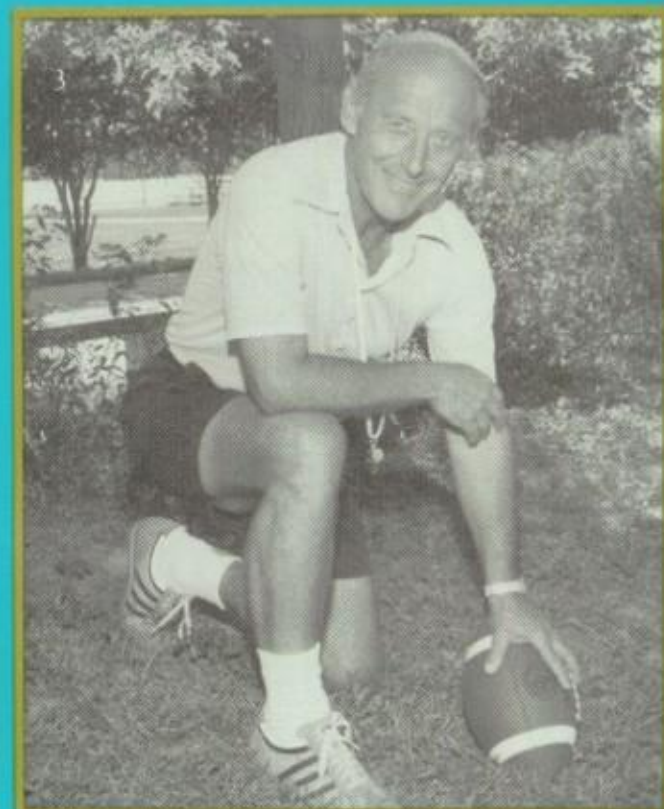

THE ORACLE IS NO MYTH

Years ago, the Oracle sat on Mt. Parnassus predicting fates of man. People traveled from afar to hear the Oracle's words of wisdom and to use the knowledge gained. The mystical powers she possessed could help them reach their goals. The Oracle influenced their poetry and music. Today in Delphi Community High School, students embody the Oracle's spirit. They come to DCHS to discover varied facts of learning and to sharpen academic skills.

Modern Oracles excel in all aspects of mental and physical development. Music, Art, and Theatre act as the basis for a Fine Arts education. Learning about History, Sciences and Communications is all important to becoming a successful member of society. Challenges are achieved by those who strive to succeed in the life they choose to lead. Whether on the basketball court, or at home hitting the books, they prove THE ORACLE IS NO MYTH.

1. Kevin Stevens explores the area's involvement in World War II. 2. Working is part of learning. 3. Todd Lemen uncovers the history of the local area. 4. Friends ease the academic atmosphere. 5. Dave Ginn works to meet educational goals. 6. Todd shows pride in his community.

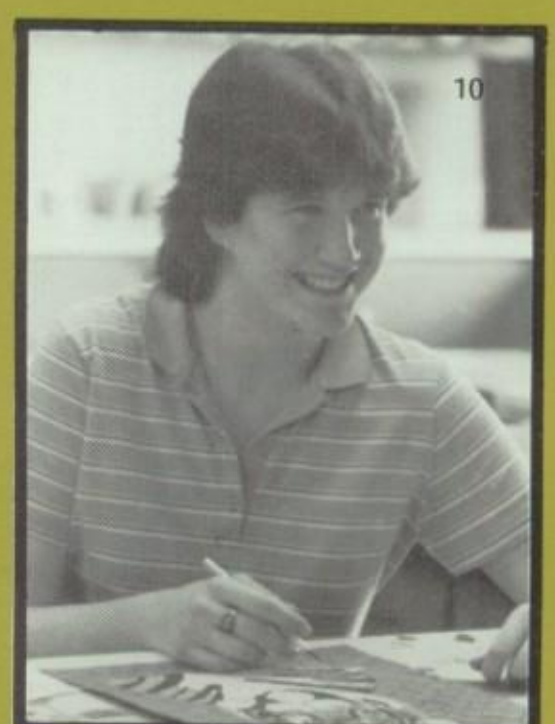

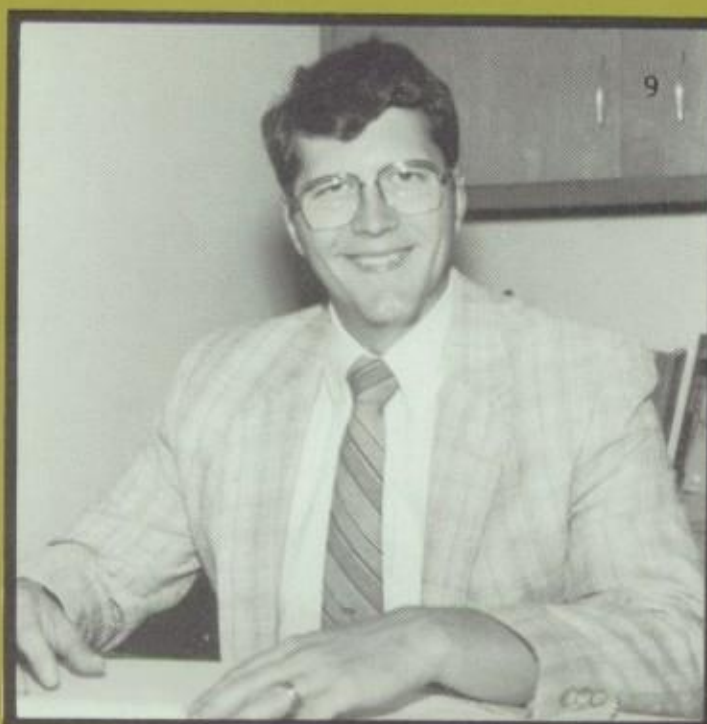

ORACLES WHO EXCEL

DCHS had a variety of distinctive personalities. Some strived to do things the average citizen did not contemplate. Dr. Charles Hobbs, new assistant principal at DCHS, had a respected position of leadership. Two men who gave their all to success, Coaches Tony Berto and Mike Jones, reached milestones in their coaching careers. Coach Berto, at Delphi for 32 years, was presented with his 200th victory by the 83-84 Varsity Football team. Ironically, Coach Jones reached his 300th win against the same opponent, Benton Central. Students could be proud of fellow classmates and teachers who were worthy of recognition.

1. Amy Sledd & Paul Wagoner of the popular singing group, His Reflections. 2. Coach Jones. 3. Coach Berto. 4. 1984 Honors Band member, Patti Clark. 5. Teresa Denton, Carroll County DAR Good Citizen. 6. Carroll County 4-H Queen, Suzi Alvarez. 7. Tennis Award winners: Joey Dunn, Joel Robbins, and Nelson Smith. 8. Michelle Fife, rancher of award winning rabbits, checks the rat cages in Bio lab. 9. Assistant Principal Dr. Charles Hobbs. 10. National Merit Scholarship nominee, Belinda Morgan.

POINTING GROWTH IN QUALITY

The Board of School Trustees is composed of community members who have been elected to their positions on the board of education. They are interested in improving quality education for the area's young people and they work to promote positive means to enhance local learning.

The superintendent of schools is well versed in training and experiences in his role of chief director of education. He works to coordinate and develop learning experiences for the entire school corporation. The office staff carries out their myriad of tasks with prompt and able dispatch.

EDUCATION

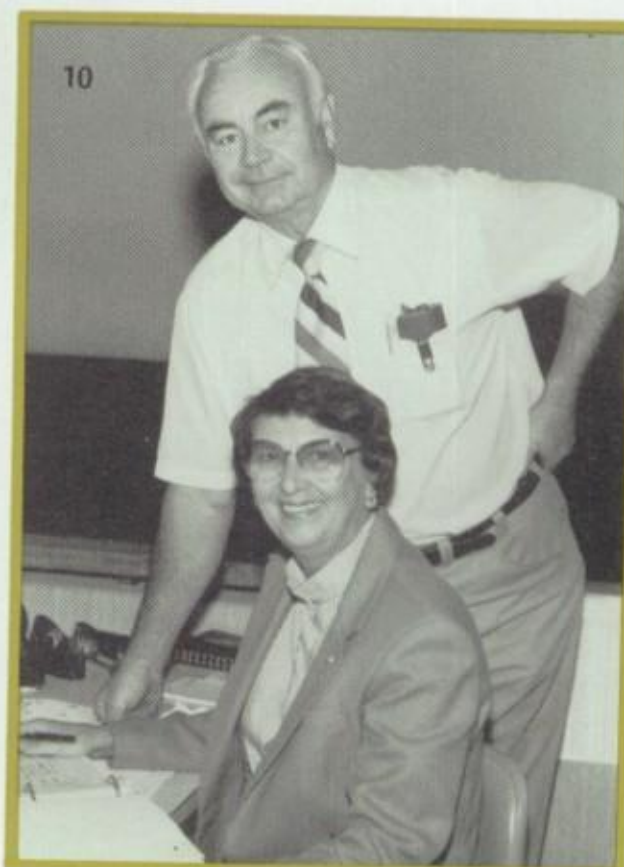

Education Has As Its Goal
The Forming Of Character.

The office of the principal is the center of activity for the high school. From the chambers of the principal and the assistant principal go coordinating activities to implement effective action for the faculty and staff to help broaden educational opportunities for all of the students. This office works directly with students and faculty.

1. Superintendent of Delphi Community School Corporation, Dr. Charles T. Skurka and his office manager and secretary, Mrs. Edythe L. Berninger. 2. Board of School Trustees: Daniel L. Lybrook, Thomas B. Freeman, President George M. Ringer, Vice President Dwaine K. Ward, Joe A. Wallace, Secretary Mrs. Carolyn K. Pearson, Harold E. Nipple. 3. Board of Education building. 4. Bookkeeper Mrs. Karen L. Bradshaw and Receptionist Mrs. Carol Ann McGreevey. 5. School Attorney Joseph T. Ives, Jr. 6. Business Manager William R. Fellmy. 7. The central desk of the high school principal is always a hub of activity. 8. Dr. Charles F. Hobbs, Assistant Principal of Delphi Community High School and the school's principal, Mr. Garald F. Manahan. 9. Familiar faces and helpful figures to all DCHS students are Ms. Susan Sabens, secretary to the principal and DCHS receptionist, Mrs. Joyce Kenworthy. 10. Athletic Director Norman L. Ebrite and his secretary, Mrs. Joan Hatter.

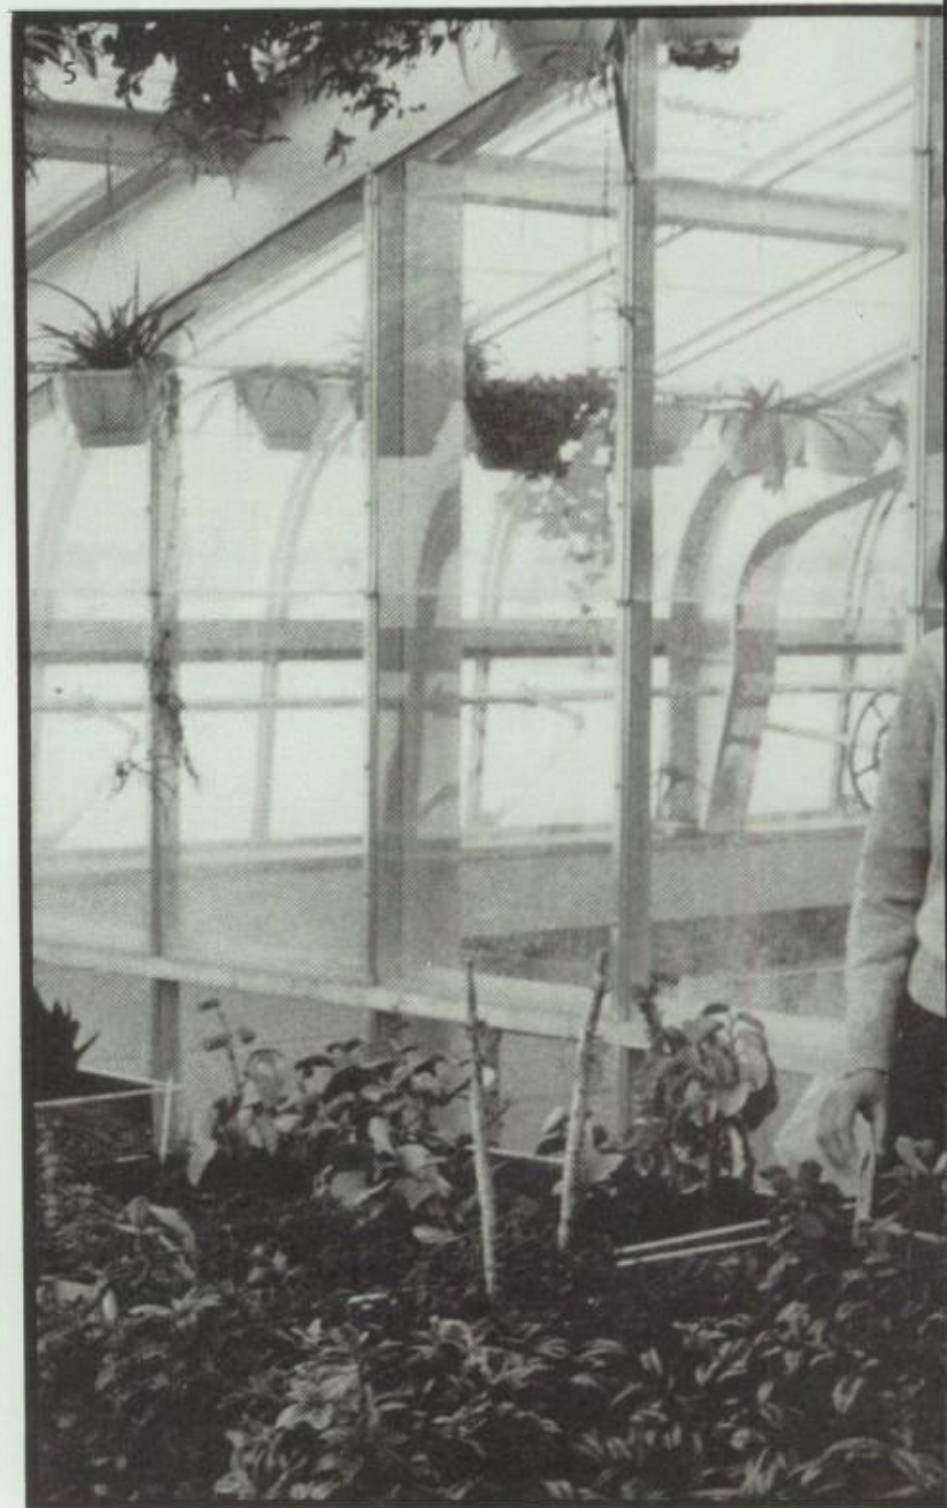

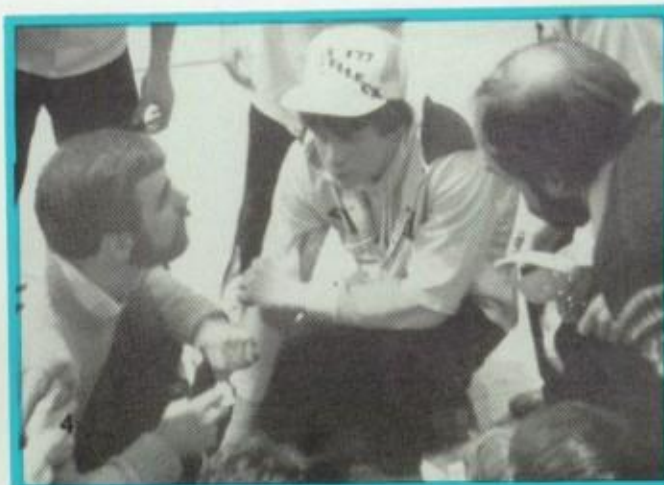

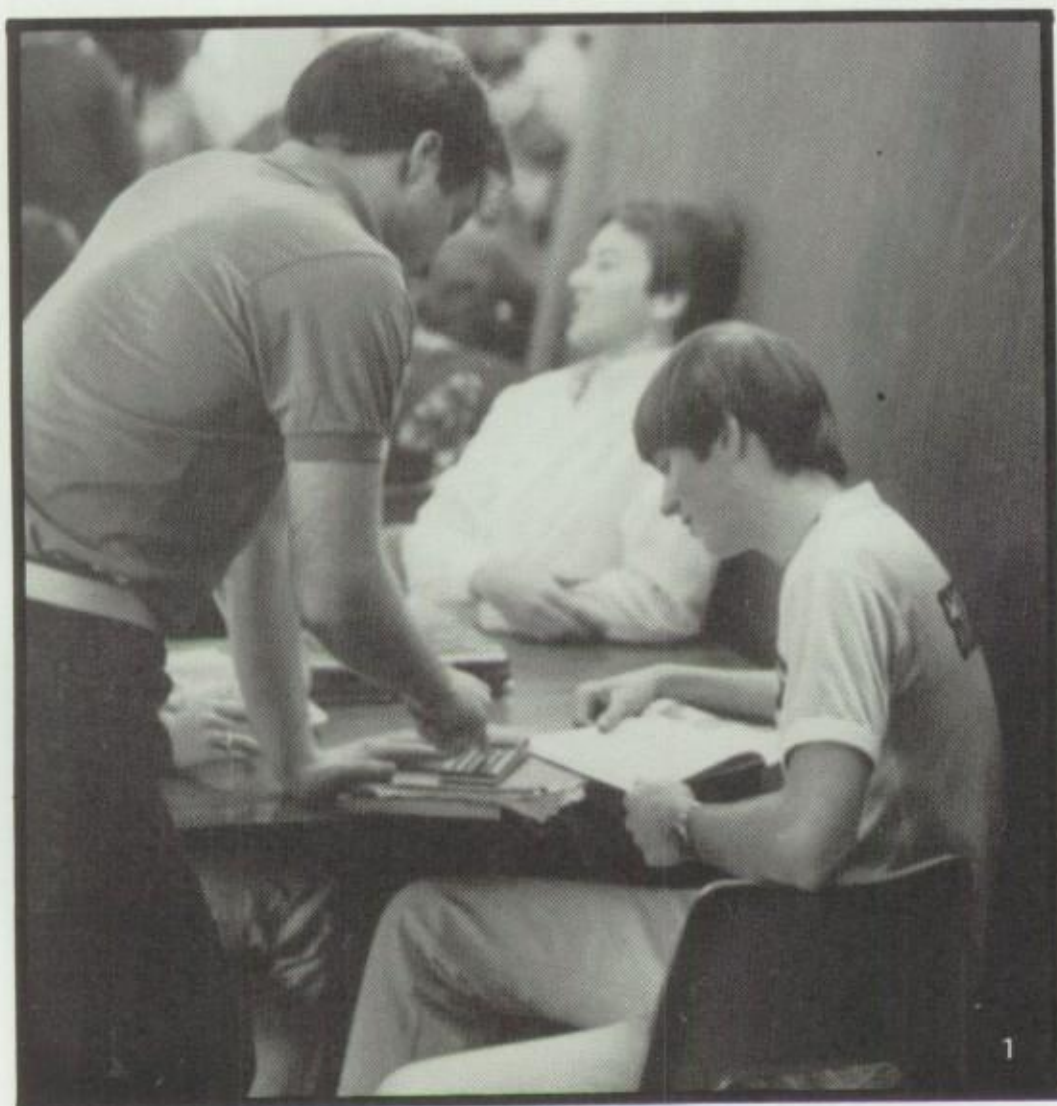

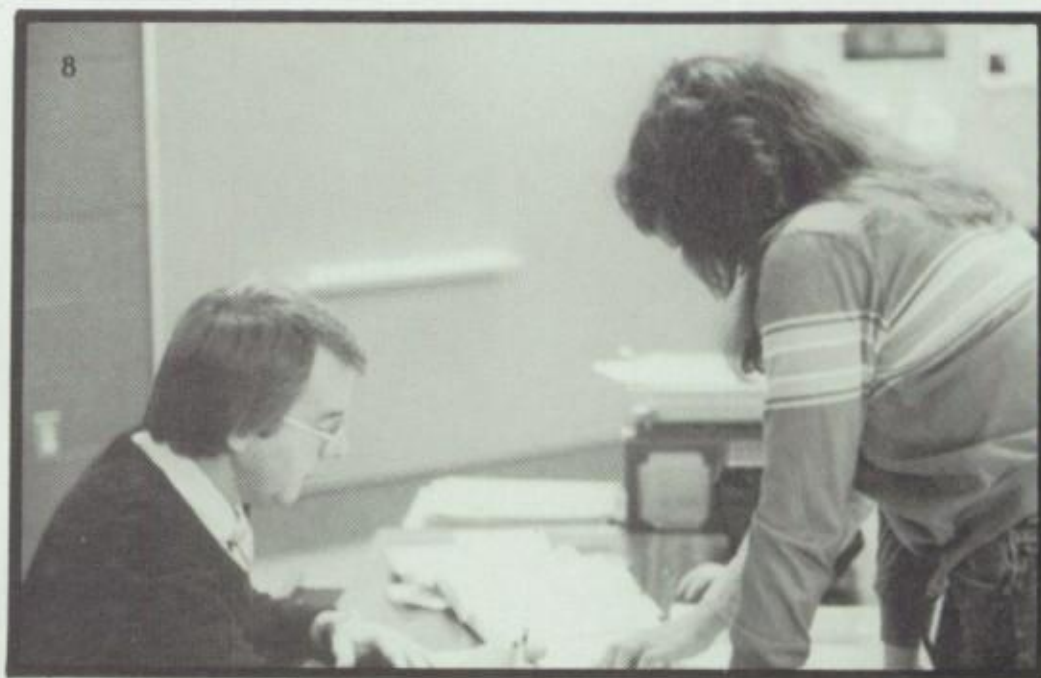

COUNSELORS

People Helping Each Other

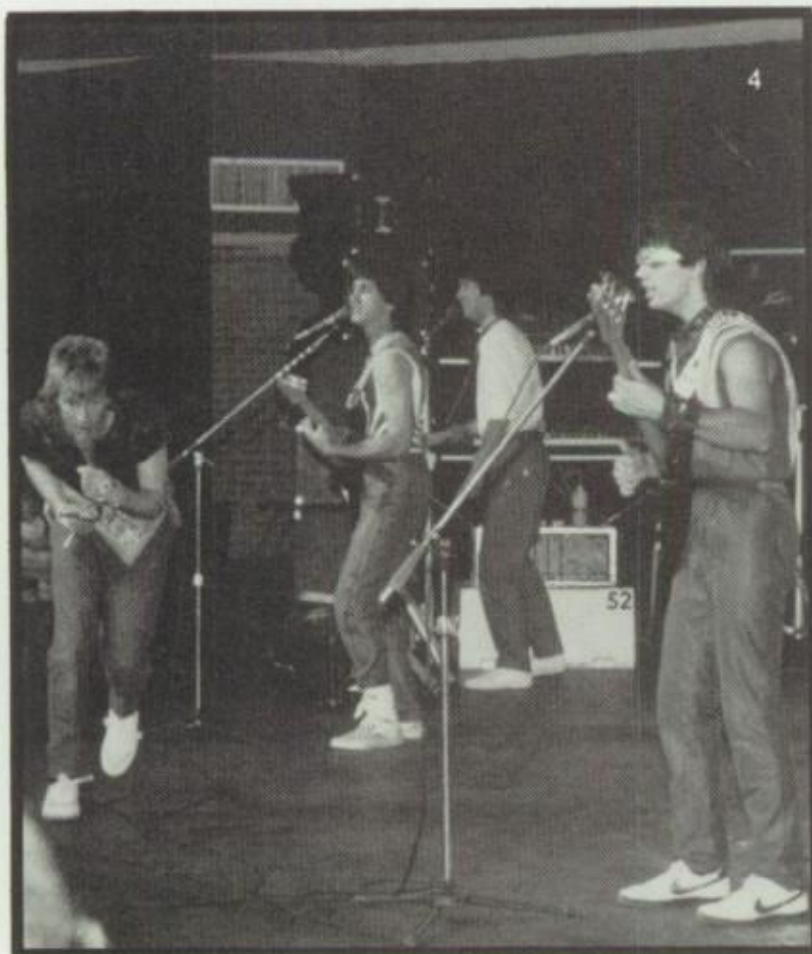

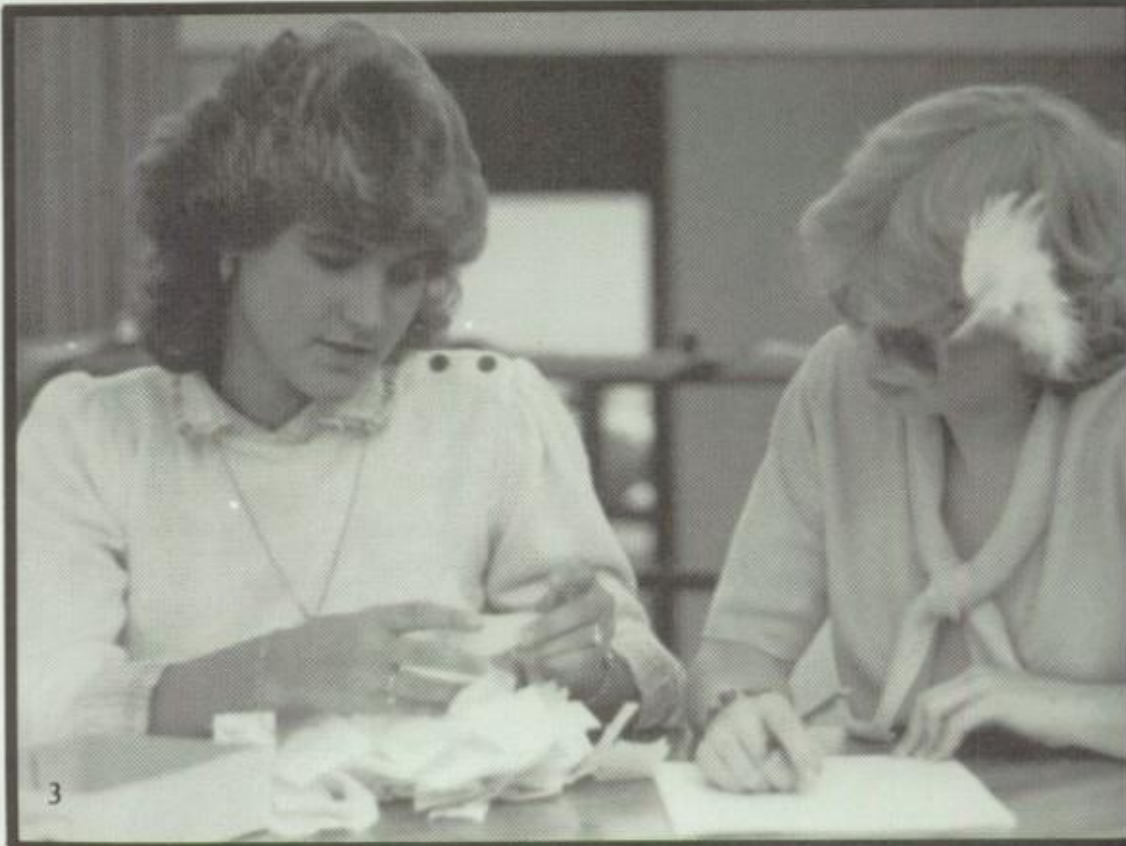

1. A calculator aids Brett Zimpher and John Gingrich in solving a problem. 2. One of the problem solvers of DCHS, Miss Joyce Lawton, Material Resource Center Director. 3. A ready smile greets students when Mrs. Madeline Kesner, Secretary of the MRC, helps them. 4. Before the meet begins, Coach Phil Brummet gives some last minute advice. 5. Team effort helps Tina Metzinger and Donnie Sims better understand plant growth. 6. Coordination of ideas helps Pat Pearson and Mike Allen's presentation for a debate. 7. Guidance Director of DCHS Robert Conner and Guidance Counselor Mrs. Janis Kemp. Seated is guidance secretary Mrs. Doris Goslee. 8. Working on a one-to-one basis, Mr. Tyner of the math department helps Jean Eberle to better understand a flowchart in Computer Literacy. Growth through people working together in Cooperative ways.

Like the Oracle of yesteryear, the counselors of DCHS gave students advice and helped them to plan for the future. The counselors weren't the only people who helped the students, their friends, teachers and peer group had a lot to do with the things they accomplished. Even their parents counseled them in many ways, though they may not have realized it. Most importantly, they used the knowledge that these counselors gave them toward improving themselves.

83-84 DCHS STUDENT COUNCIL

Student Council has been hard at work during the 1983-84 school year. They were in charge of Homecoming Week and counting ballots for queen. S.C. sponsored two dances, several convocations, and helped sponsor the spring musical, THE SOUND OF MUSIC.

1. Student Council meeting. 2. Homecoming princesses S. Shoemaker, T. Hill, R. Houser. 3. T. Estes and J. Armstrong count ballots for HC. queen. 4. Free Fare. 5. 84 and 85 class reps. Front: K. Gregoire jams on his guitar. 9. 86 and 87 class reps.: L. Stauffer, M. Archer, S. Al-Abbas, J. Schock, R. Hewitt, S. Kipp. dc

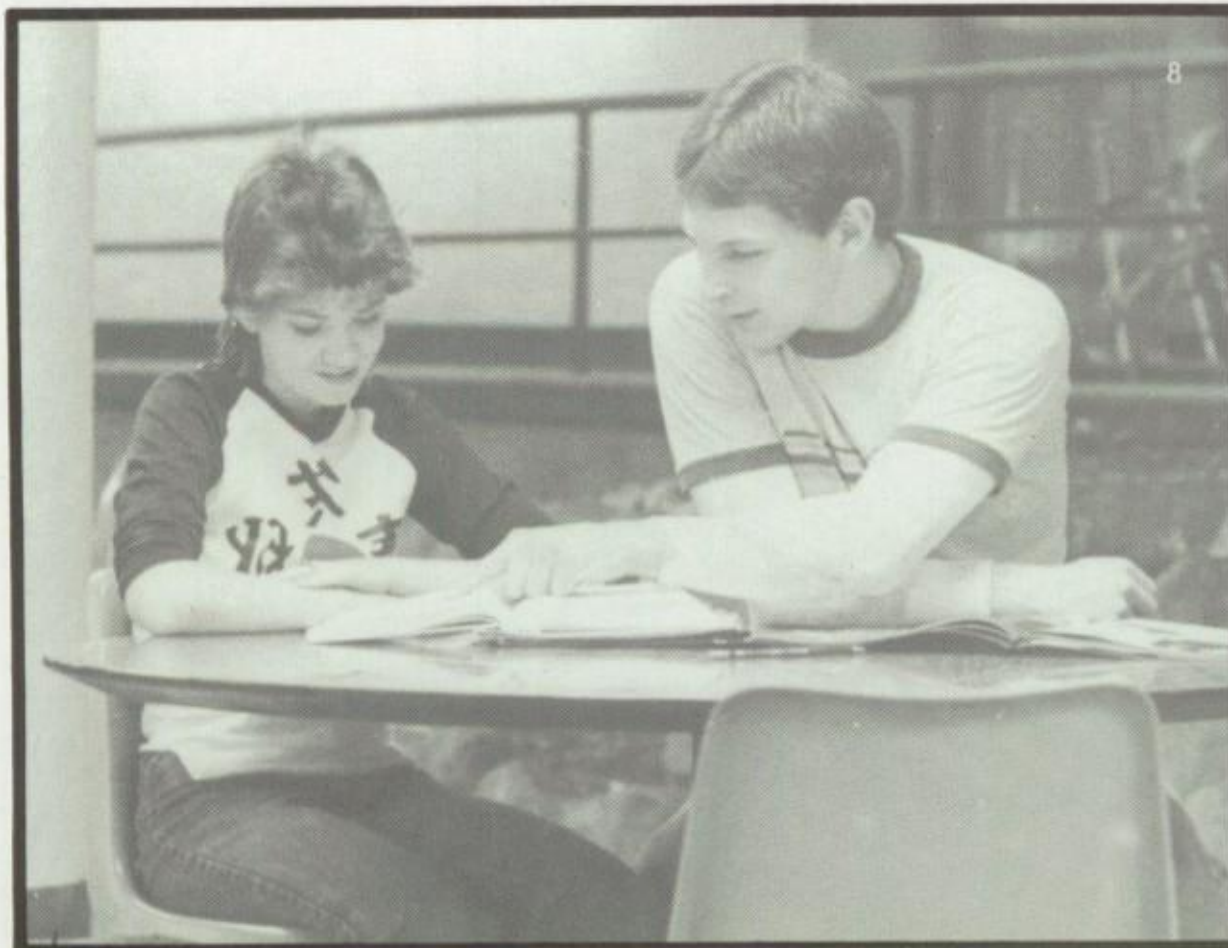

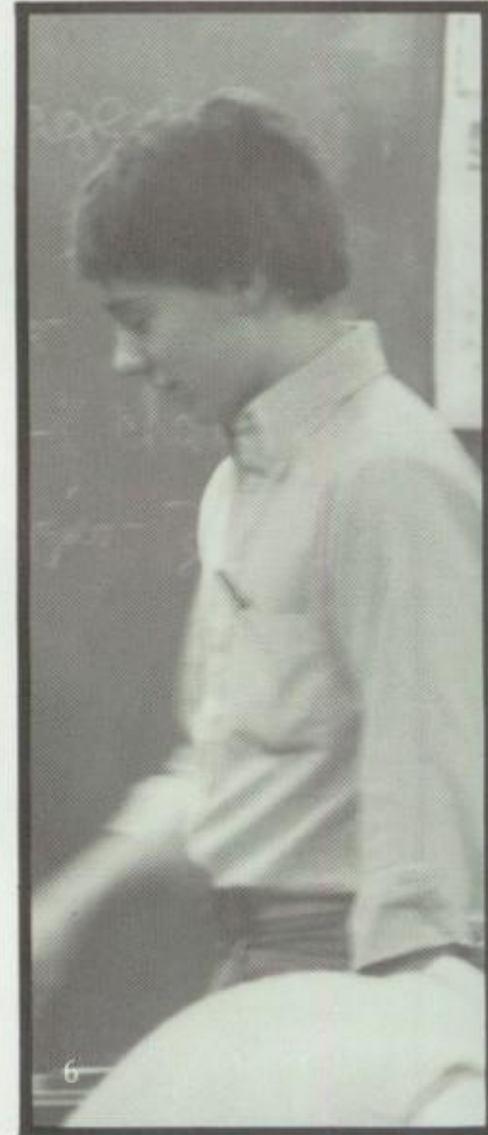

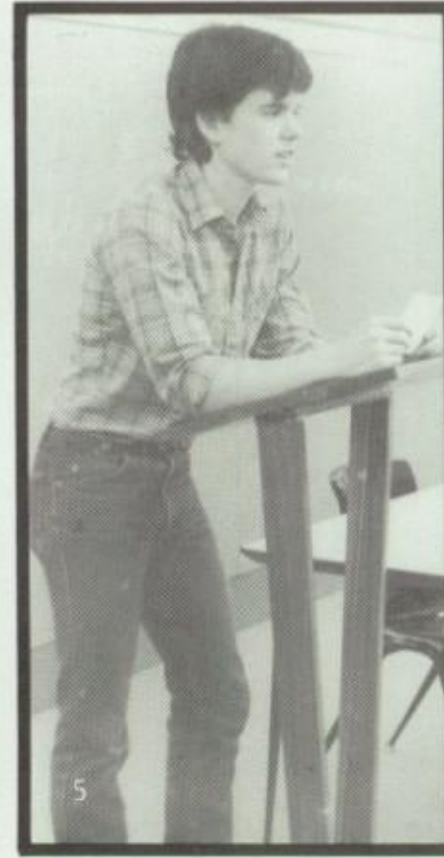

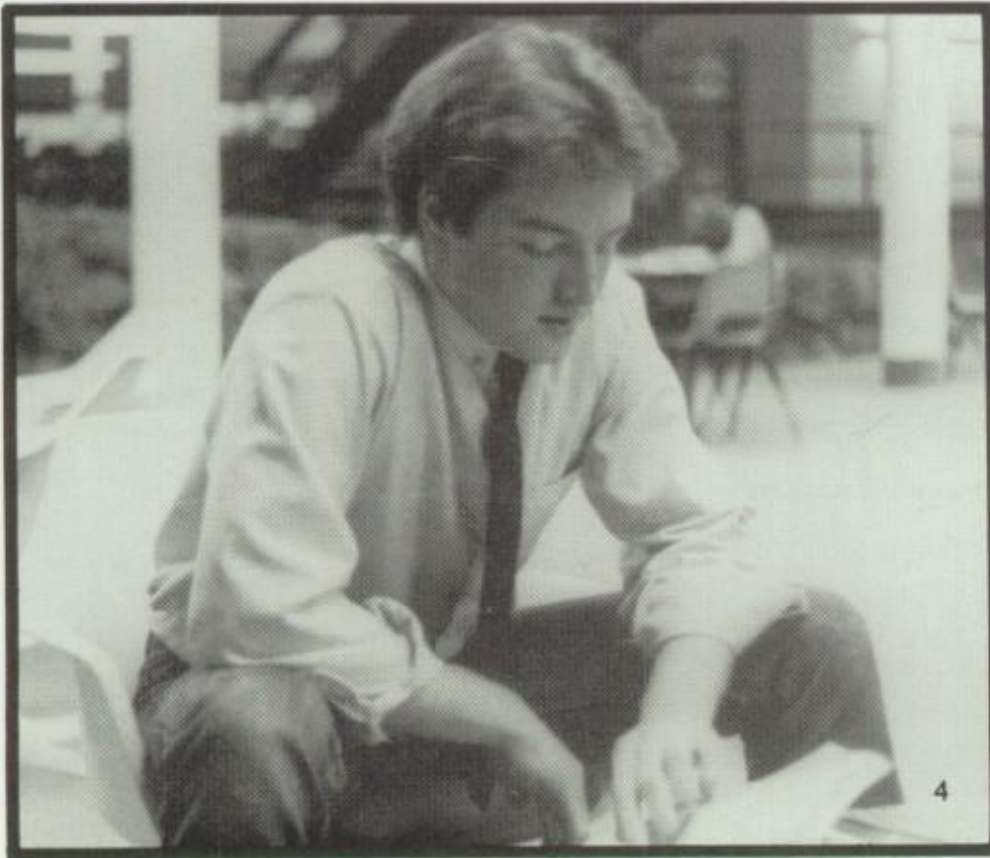

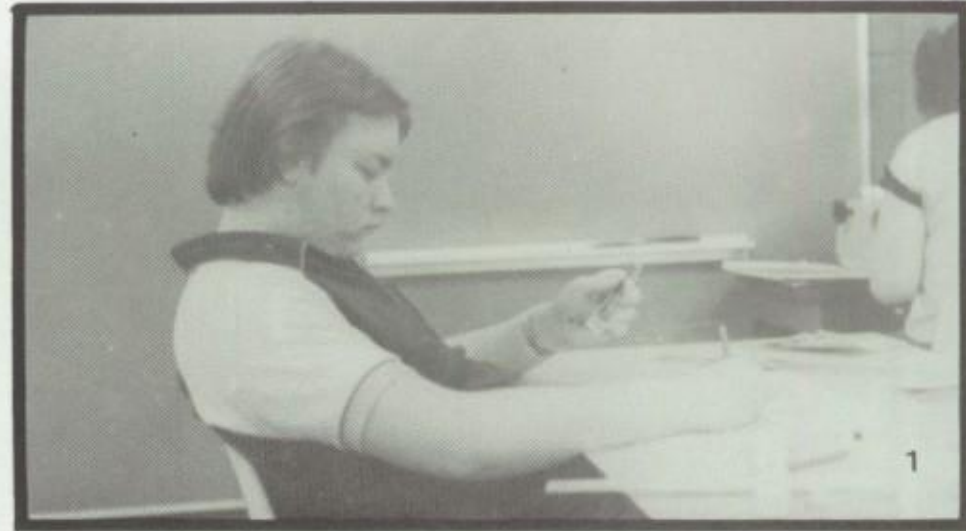

LANGUAGE . . . IT SPEAKS FOR ITSELF

Webster's Dictionary defines the noun, Language, as "the speech of Nations and Races."

At DCHS students had the opportunity to learn more about English and languages from afar. The faculty in the German, Spanish, and English departments helped students learn through reading, writing, and speech.

Through reading, students gained knowledge and imaginations were challenged. Writing taught them to express feelings and opinions on paper for others to read. The ability to speak effectively was one of the many things that speech revealed. The pupils of the language arts found that reading, writing, and speech are all essential for well-rounded communication.

PoP

1. Junior David Cripe conveys his ideas through writing. 2. Could she be Carol Burnett? 3. For Ben Stauffer, "The Odyssey" gives new meaning to DCHS and the Oracles. 4. Brett Zimpfer, senior, broadens his horizons through reading books about experiences and places unknown to him. 5. Delivering speeches proves valuable to Dana Hoard and will help him in the future. 6. The learning of Spanish makes the world seem a little bit smaller. 7. Did you read your assignment, Beverly? Mike didn't. 8. Mike Watkins advises Suzie Kleckner on her report, or are they plotting a trick on Miss Lawton? 9. MS. LINDA LEWELLEN, German and English. 10. ABEL ALVAREZ, English and Spanish. 11. EARLEEN ALVAREZ, English and Journalism. 12. MORRIS BUCK, English and Stagecraft. 13. MRS. LAURA BAKER, English.

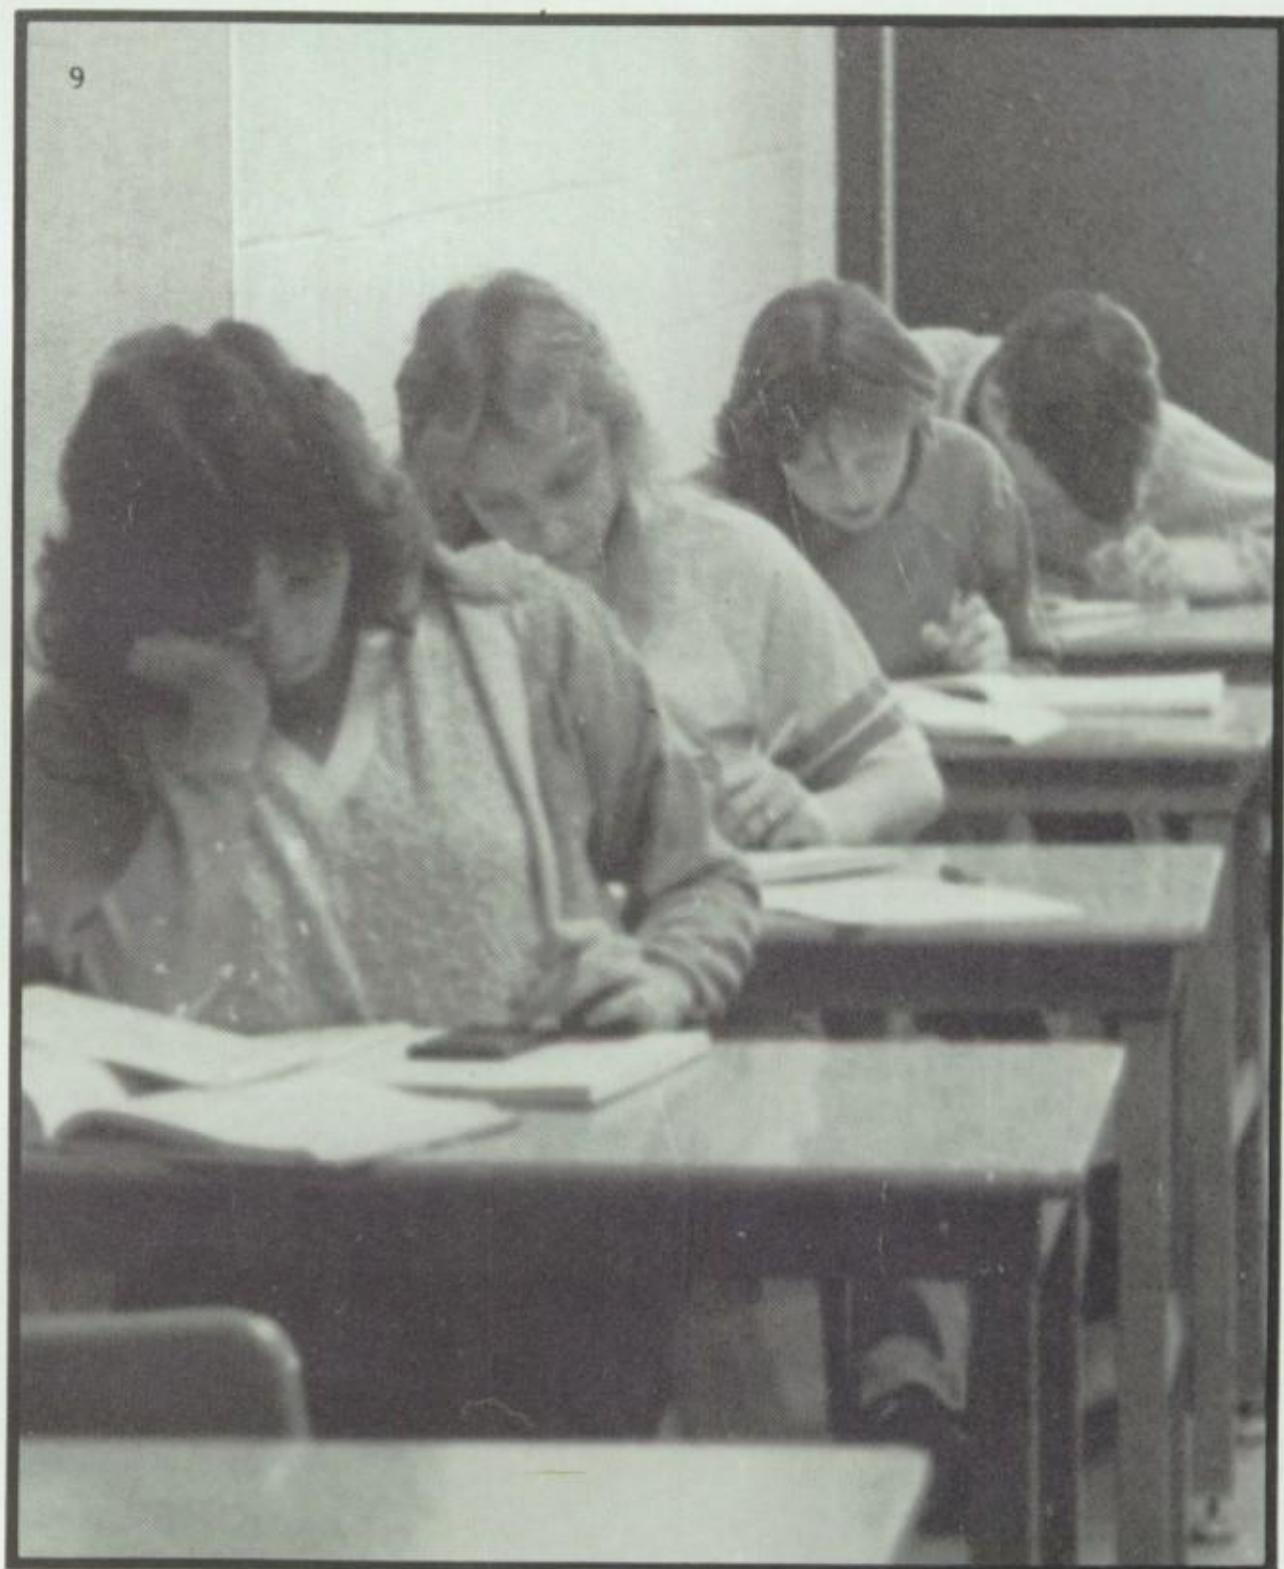

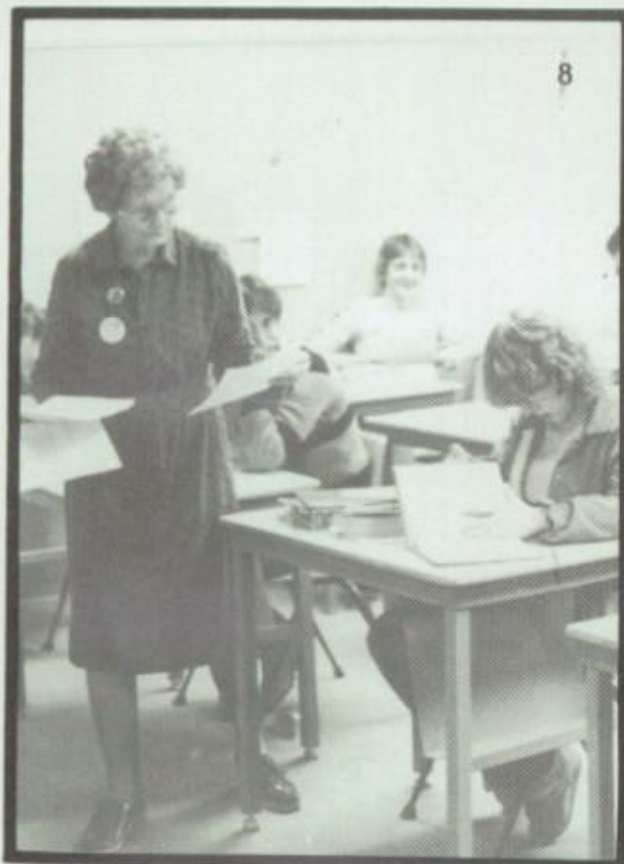

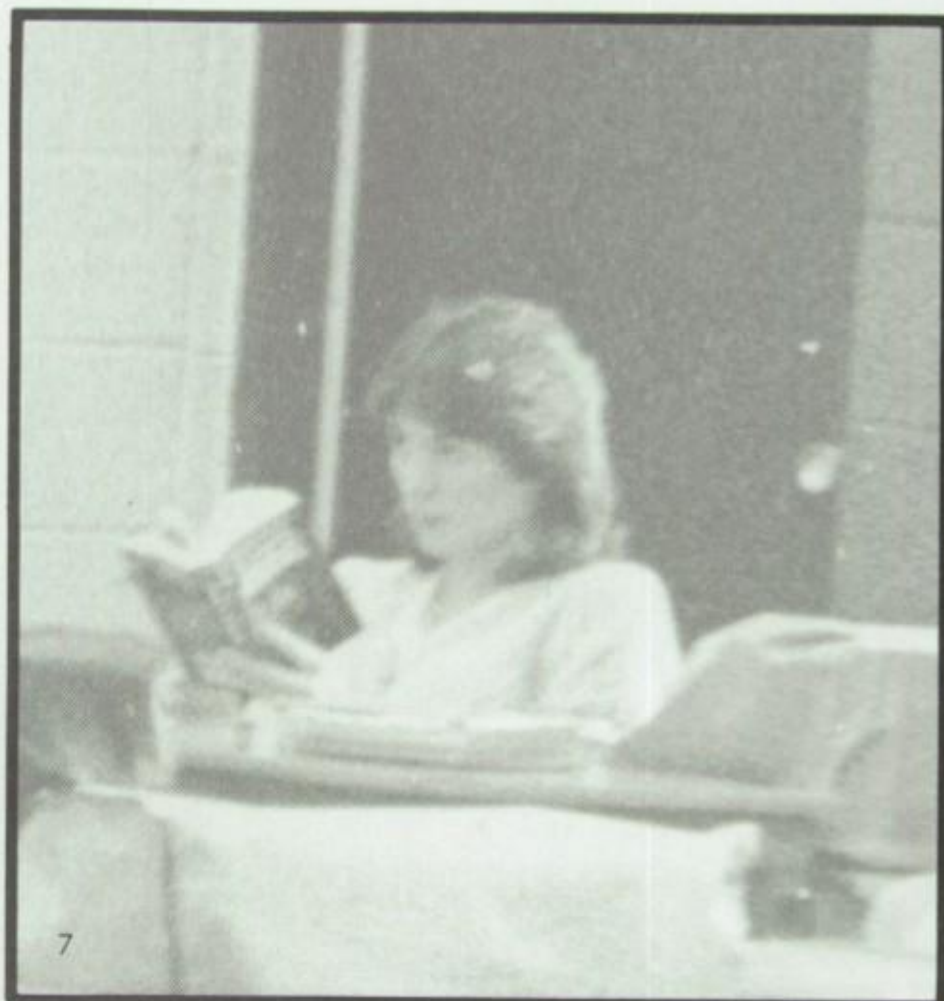

BUSINESS EDUCATION

THE REST

1. Mrs. Edna Grimm. 2. Mrs. Carol Wolfe. 3. Typing is a vital part of a business education. 4.

There are many different aspects to a business education. At DCHS students found that they could achieve many different levels of that education. The classes offered in depth studies into these areas.

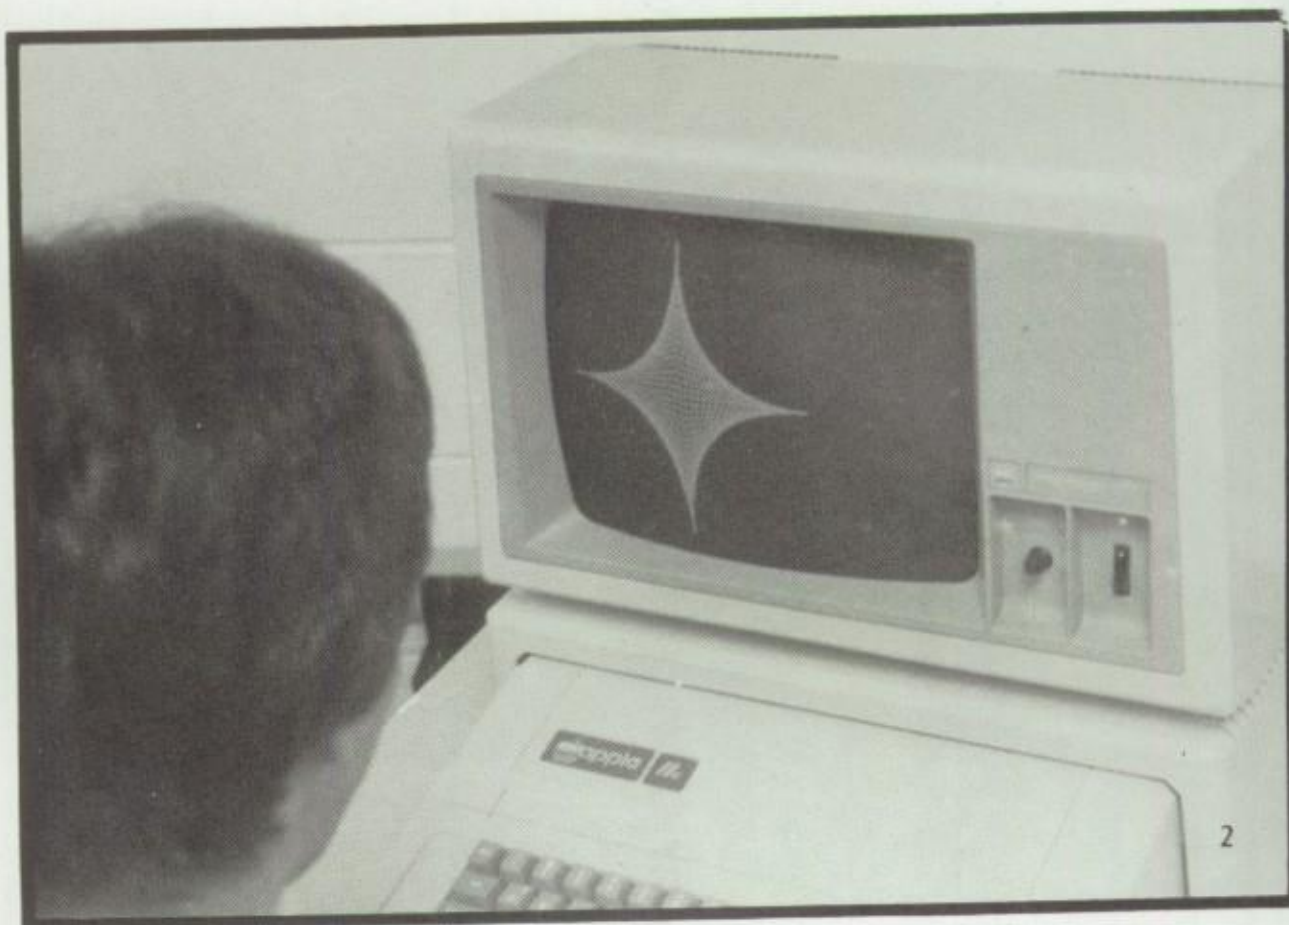

Classes offered at DCHS included: General Business, Personal typewriting, Short Hand I, II, Record-Keeping, Typing I, II, Accounting, Business Law, Business Communications, Office Machines, Office Practice and Applied Typing.

Math is one of the most important subjects offered at DCHS. Classes range from general math to advanced theories used in Trig and Calculus. Math is not always using numbers to add or subtract, it also is associated with computers. The wide range of math classes help prepare the students to solve the everyday problems they will meet in life.

DLH

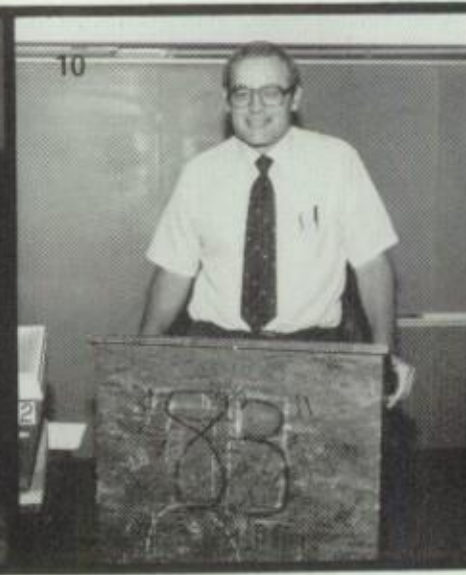

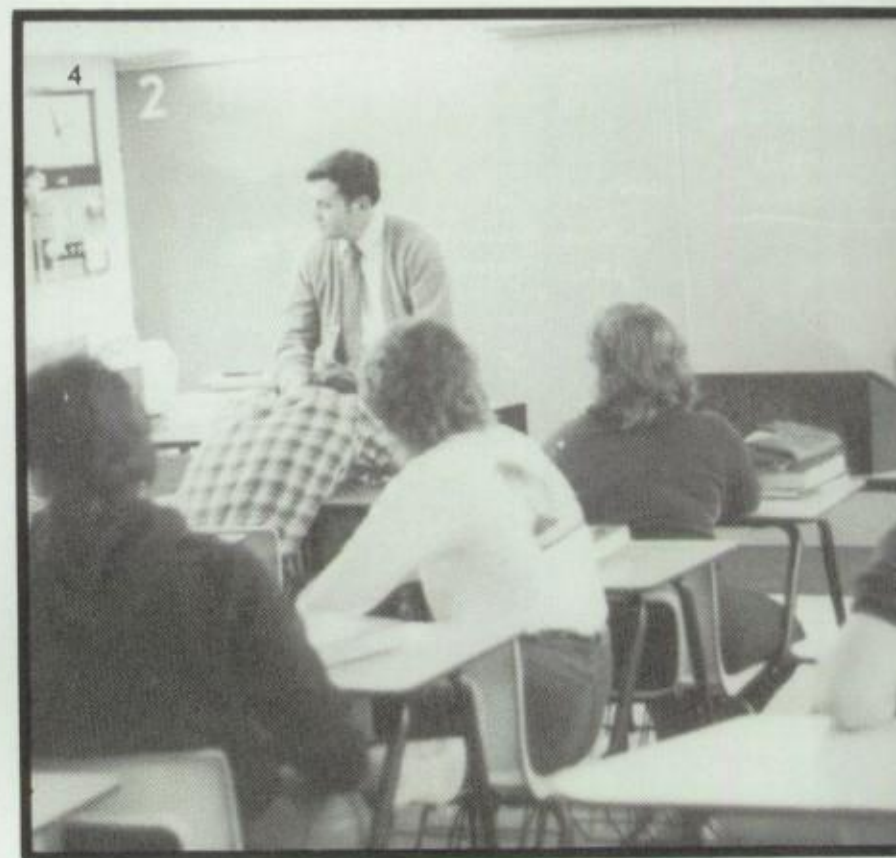

PAST, PRESENT, AND FUTURE

The social studies courses of DCHS are some of the most important classes required of high schoolers. The sophomore year starts off with World History, and the juniors then enroll in U.S. History. Finally, during senior year comes Psychology, Sociology, and Economics. Required of all seniors is Government.

Social studies teachers are somewhat similar to the great Oracles of ancient Delphi in that they help predict the future through the study of the past and present.

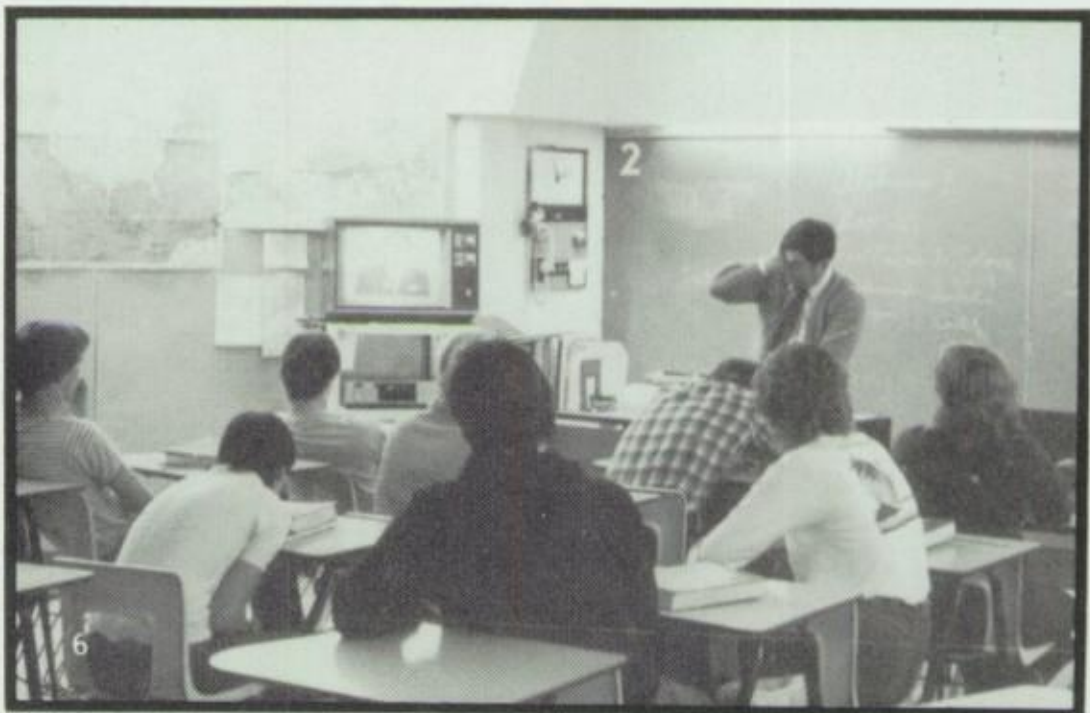

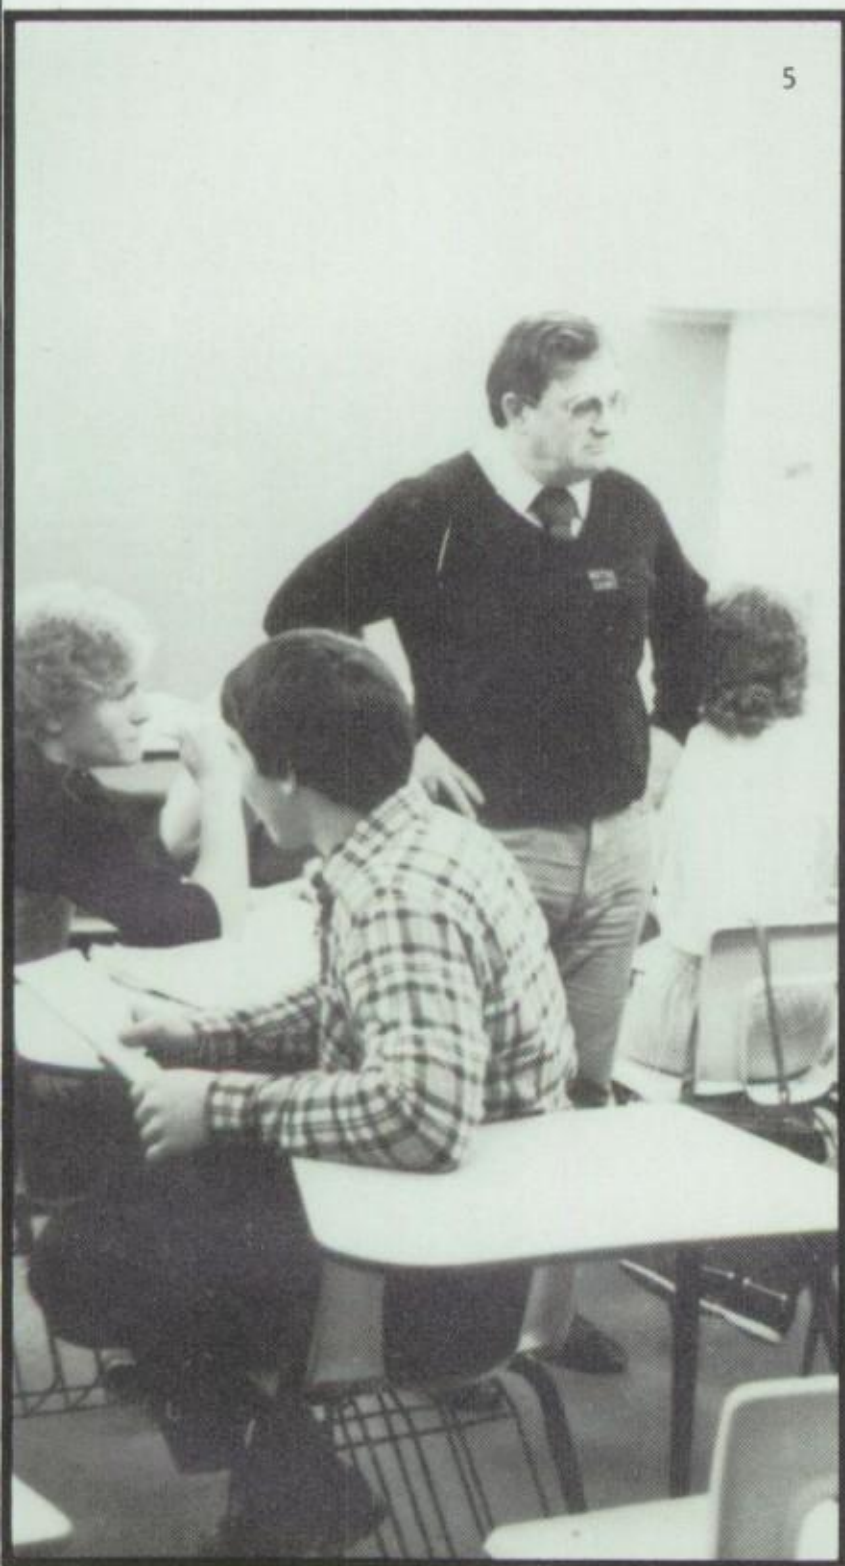

Knowledge gained in these classes help prepare students for everyday life challenges and to better participate in world affairs.
bam

1. Mr. Miller's 1st hour Sociology class shows they are all "good eggs." 2. Easter bunnies, Marla Archer and Julie Hartz, hand out candy to deserving students in 5th hour class. 3. Mr. Beale gives some personal guidance. 4. A lively discussion ensues on a topic of interest. 5. Mr. Seurnyck makes pertinent comments to individual discussion groups. 6. A history class catches up on some important world events. 7. A report is delivered by Laura Sturdivant. 8. An Econ class participates in discussion.

9. David Beale. Philosopher and teacher of World History, United States History and Economics. 10. Norman Miller. Mr. Miller teaches World History, Sociology, and brings to his students the ways in which the American governmental system works.

11. Joseph Seurnyck. Mr. Seurnyck is a teacher of World and U.S. History and also in his vivid Sociology courses gives his students information of how human emotions fit into one's everyday life. 12. Greg Lighty. Mr. Lighty is a teacher of World History and helps the students to better understand the proper way to operate an automobile in his Driver Ed. classes.

FINE ARTS TUNE THE MIND

Whether dancing, singing, drawing a picture, or playing an instrument, DCHS students have been known to excel. The fine arts courses were the ones that taught students to expand their horizons by learning things that were not always so obvious in the rural community in which they lived.

Stagecraft students will never attend another play without noticing the set construction.

The art classes experienced art in many forms. The annual art show gave the public an opportunity to view their efforts and appreciate their talents.

Whether marching in the football field or playing a more formal concert band setting, the bands gave students a chance to perform and be proud of their accomplishments.

The DCHS choirs entertained throughout the year for various school-related activities.

Pom pon girls added zip to the halftimes at football and basketball games with their dance routines.

Pop

1. A mosaic design is completed as an art project by Belinda Morgan. 2. Pom Pons complete a routine and wonder if Mrs. Armstrong caught a mistake. 3. Don Spitznagle keeps everything in line during Stagecraft class. 4. "Looking Through the Eyes of Love" is sung by the Entertainers. 5. "Are you faking, Michelle?" ... band members are really clever people. 6. Choir can be fun! 7. Jack Sanders, Visual Arts. 8. Kevin Kayser, Vocal Music. 9. Lester Tomlinson, Instrumental Music. 10. Mrs. Teran Armstrong, Drill Team Director.

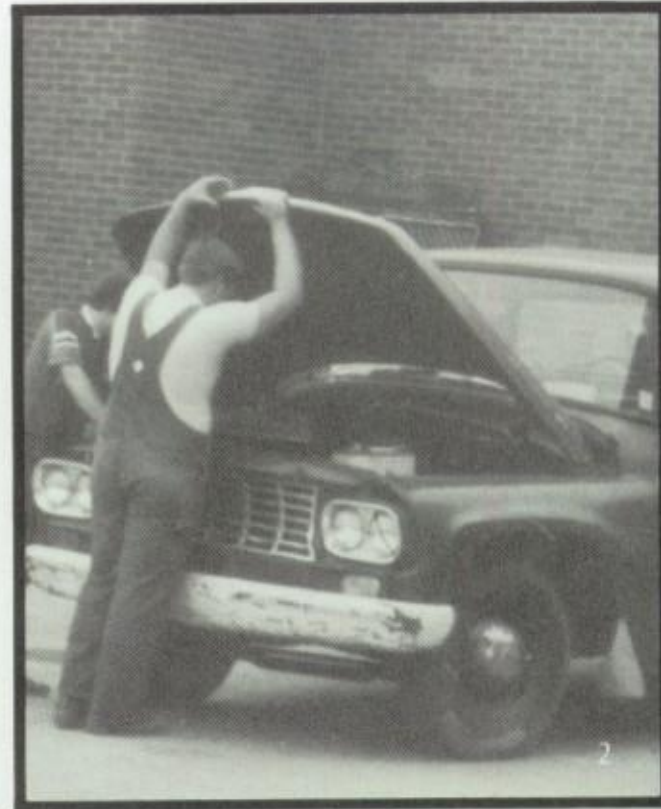

THE LUNCH STARTS HERE

The students at Delphi Community High School discover the needs, the caring, and the importance of agriculture and plant-life in the agricultural wing of the school.

Since many of the agricultural students of today will be the food suppliers of tomorrow, Mr. Striebeck and Ms. Theobald work daily to develop outstanding agricultural skills.

The students in Horticulture not only learn of landscaping and plant care in the classroom, but they experience it in the greenhouse and around town. An example of this practical experience was the I.O.O.F. Cemetary west of Delphi. Professional flower arranging was a very popular aspect of this class also. The agriculture classes participated in soil judging and learned soil types. They studied livestock characteristics and did some contest judging. Maintenance and repair of agricultural equipment has proved to be a very important part of agriculture from the economic standpoint and this was stressed very highly.

PoP

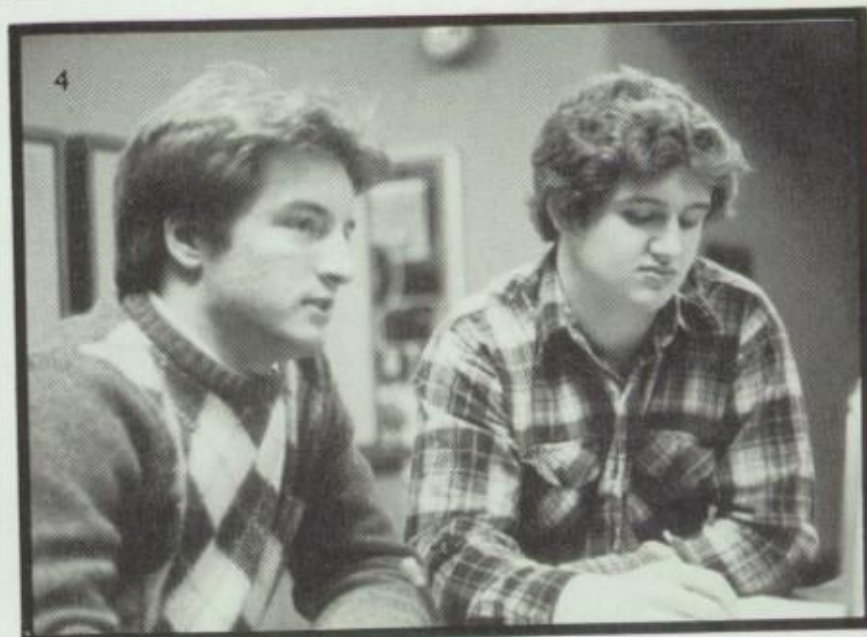

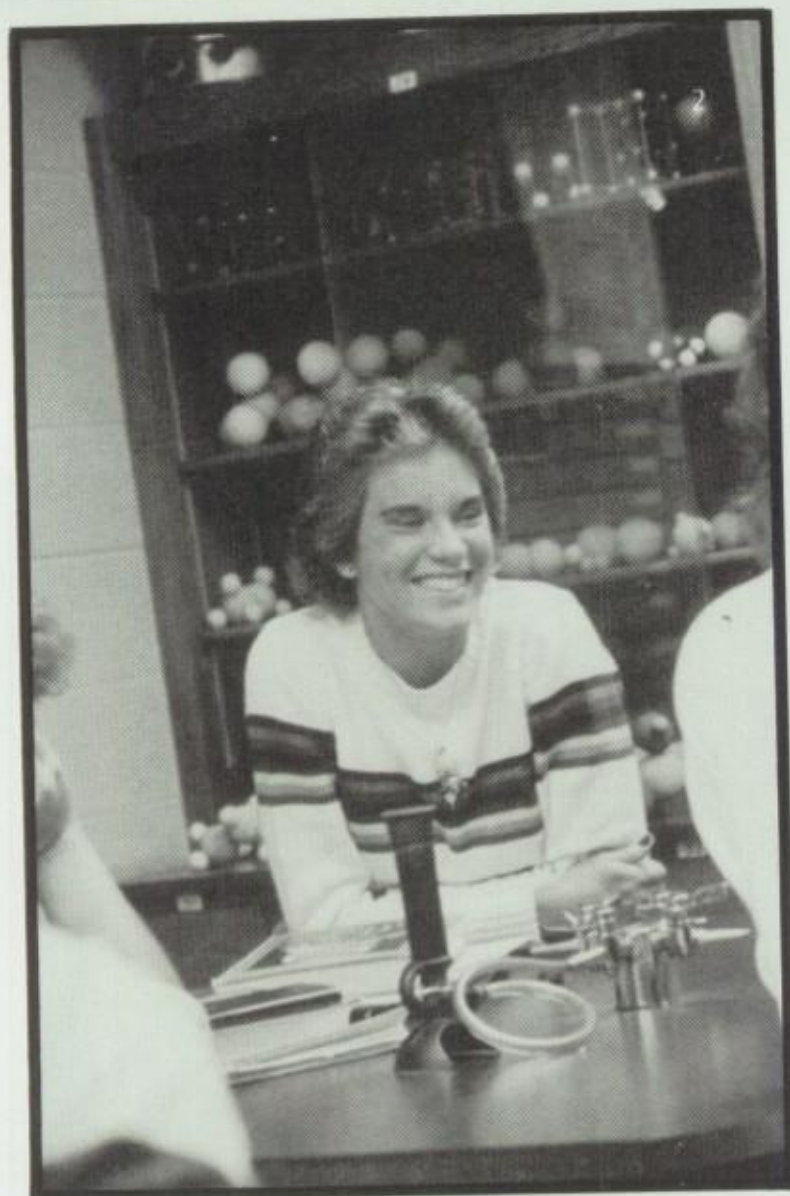

7. The plants in the Ag-Wing greenhouse are not the only ones catching the rays on this sunny day. "It's almost as good as cutting classes for that tan!" 2. John Benner claims that "It's what's under the hood that counts." 3. Is this what my classmates will be producing in the future? 4. Mr. Ross Striebeck, Vocational Agriculture. 5. Mrs. Beth Theobald, Horticulture. 6. "They hung me just because I was a plant." 7. Keeping farm equipment in good shape is part of agriculture too.

STRIVING FOR EXCELLENCE

1. Carl Abbott and Mike Allen work together on a tough assignment. 2. Terri Roberson shows that even chemistry class can have its amusing moments. 3. In the lab, Suzi Bartlow observes the reaction of her experiment. 4. Brett Zimpfer and Alan Cooper take notes in physics class. 5. Tina Metzinger carefully measures chemicals for her experiment. 6. Student teacher, Gary Rhodes, observes a student calculating her grade. 7. Mr. Mike Jones teaches Basic Biology. 8. Mr. David Hanna instructs biology and Advanced Biology. 9. Mr. Charles Geheb teaches chemistry, Advanced Chemistry and physics.

Students endeavored to gain knowledge in the various fields of science taught at DCHS. Mr. Charles Geheb instructed classes in the areas of chemistry and physics, Mr. David Hanna and Mr. Mike Jones both aided students striving to increase their comprehension of biology and its many aspects. Whether doing labs or listening to lectures, science students were always striving for excellence.

PHYSICAL FITNESS

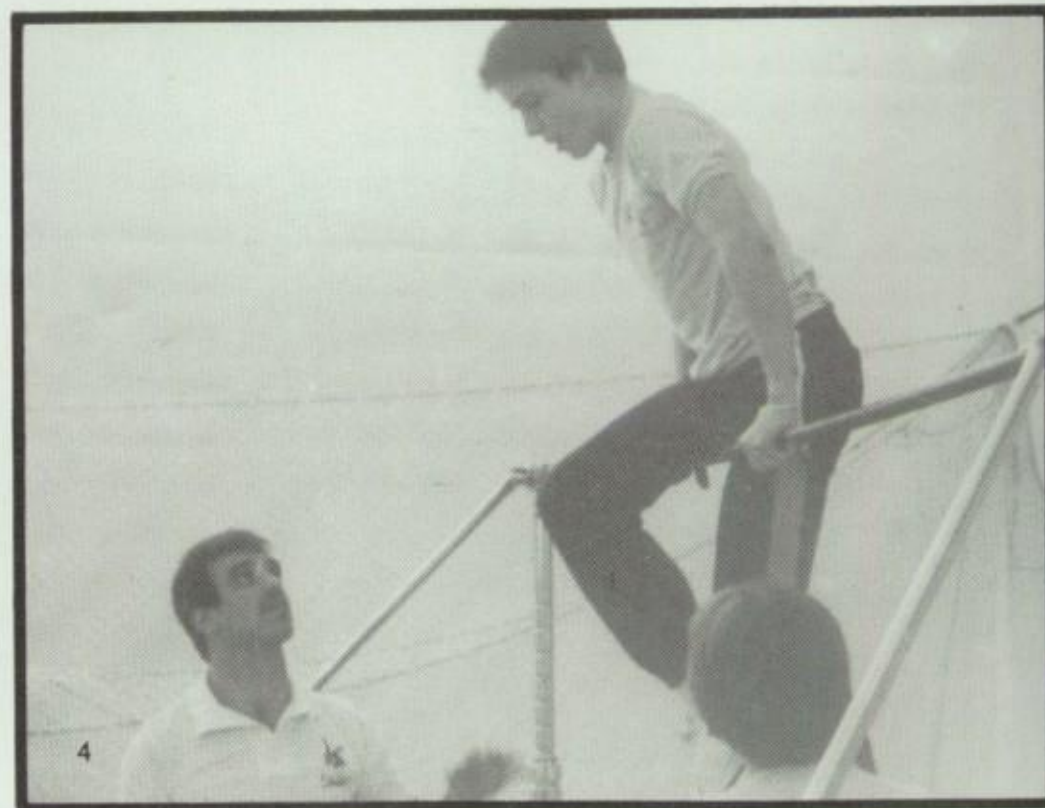

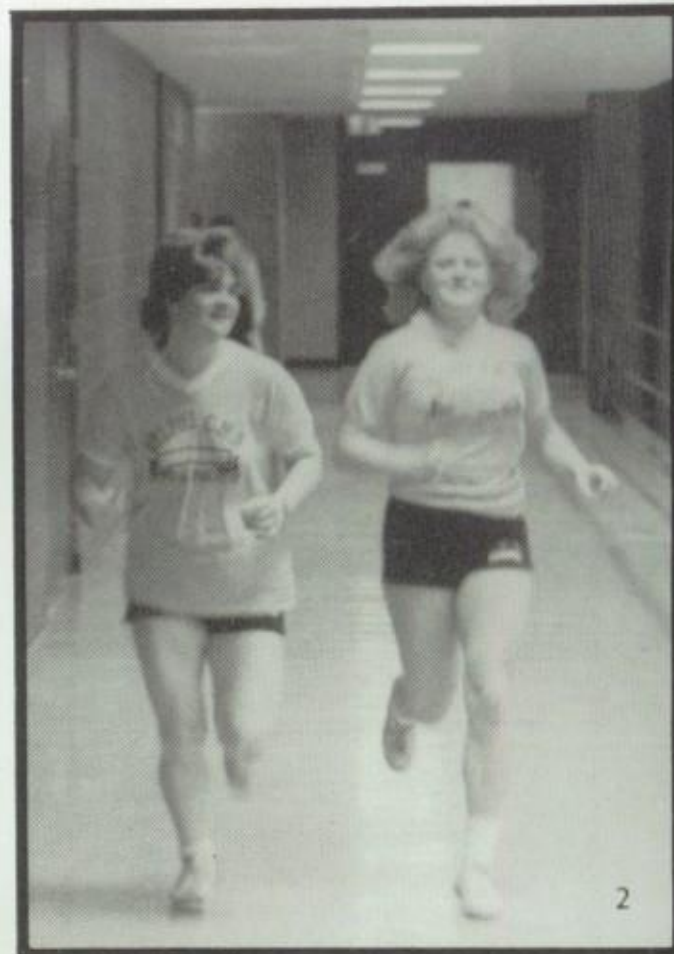

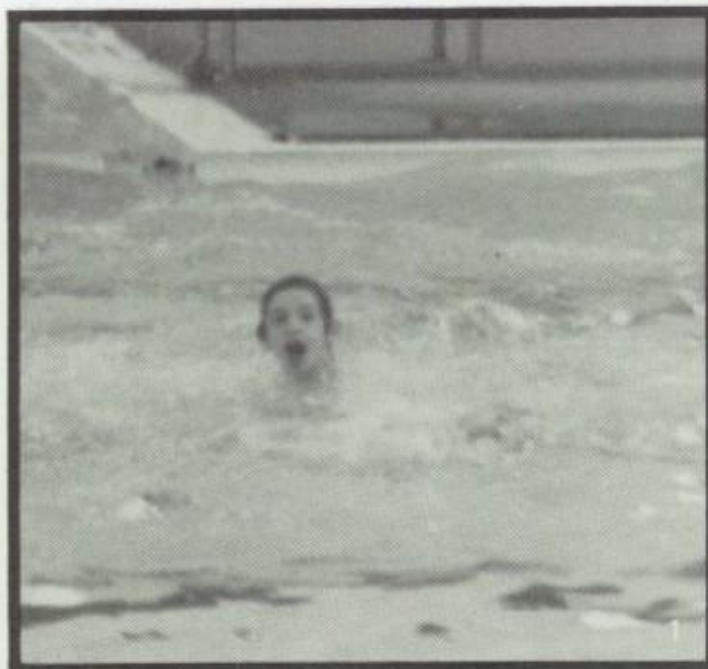

Health class teaches that health has two main parts — mental and physical.

Both are evident throughout DCHS.

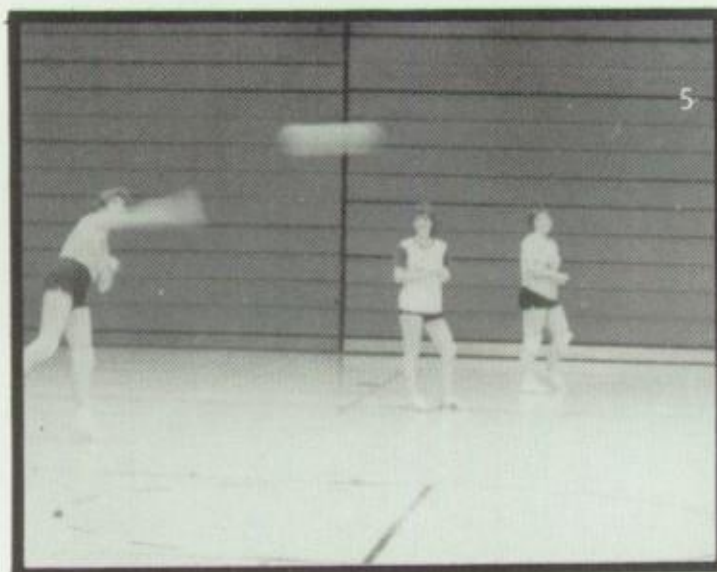

P.E. provides a physical outlet for student energy as well as improvement of body skills.

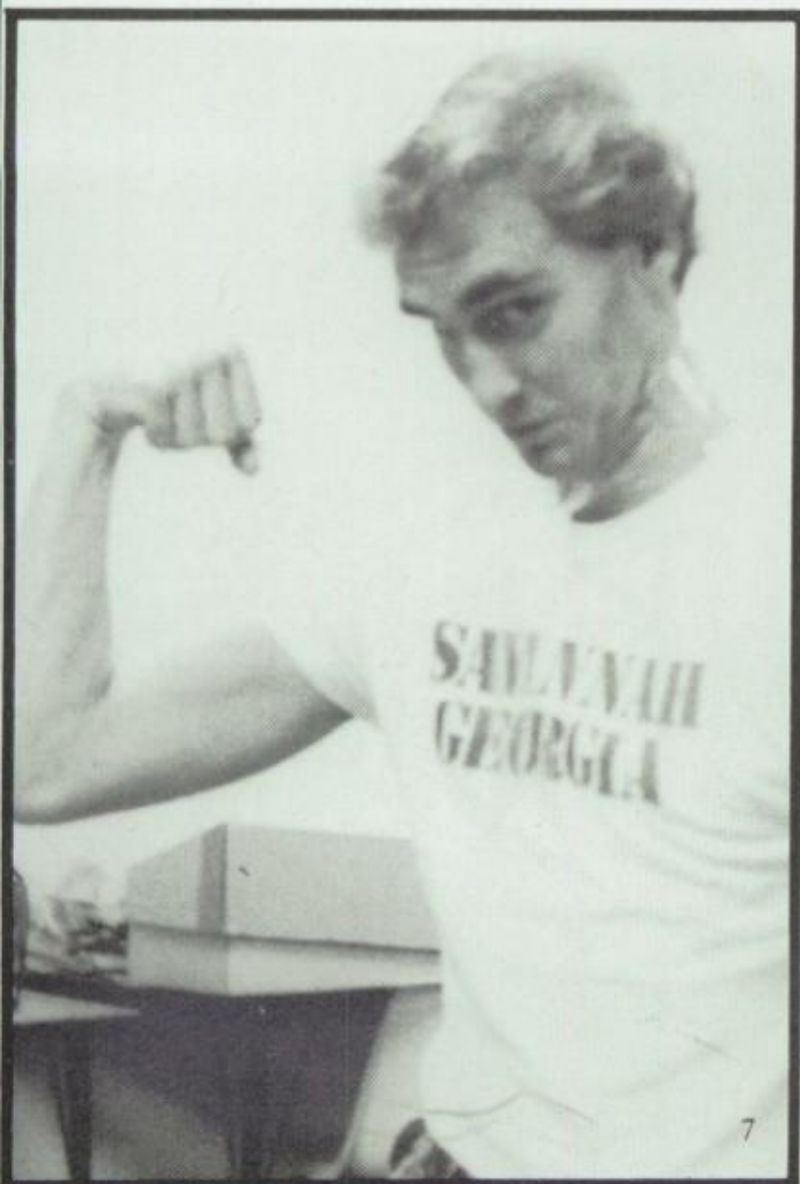

DCHS'ers keep mentally fit by challenging their minds with new ideas and learning how to avoid what might be dangerous to good mental and physical health.

PoP

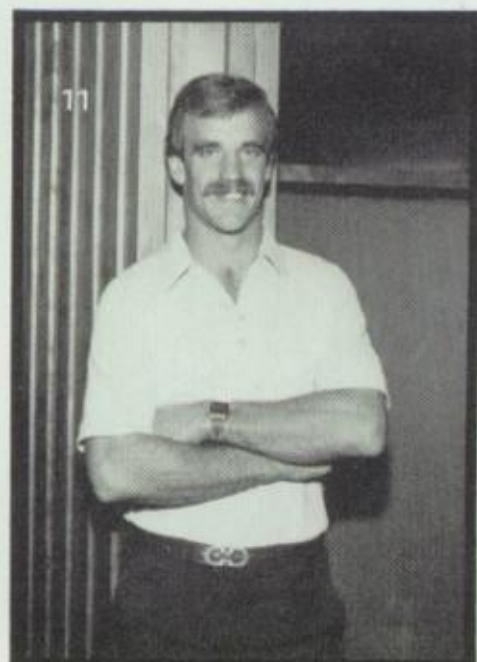

EXERCISE ...
WHAT A FEELING!

1. Help! Please! Someone help LeRoy! 2. They can work on their minds later, now it's time to get into shape. 3. I don't know how many more challenges my brain can handle! 4. Could someone please get me down? 5. Ouch! That's smarts! 6. School Nurse Betty Bordner. 7. Muscles! Some people never quit trying. 8. If you drop me, I'll kill you! 9. Health class sometimes offers first aid. 10. Ms. Claudette Etter, Aquatics Director. 11. Philip Brummett, Health and Physical Education. 12. Ms. Karen Tiede, Health and Physical Education. 13. Mr. Anthony Berto, Director of Physical Education.

"PREPARING" FOR THE FUTURE

1. Mrs. Jane McIntire. 2. Mrs. Bedeva Bowling. 3. Sonya Hudson deftly folds towels to clear the work area for the next class. 4. The demonstration mirror aids students in seeing what is going on. 5. Mrs. McIntire and class prepare a foods budget. 6. Kelly Smith's recipe calls for eggs. 7.

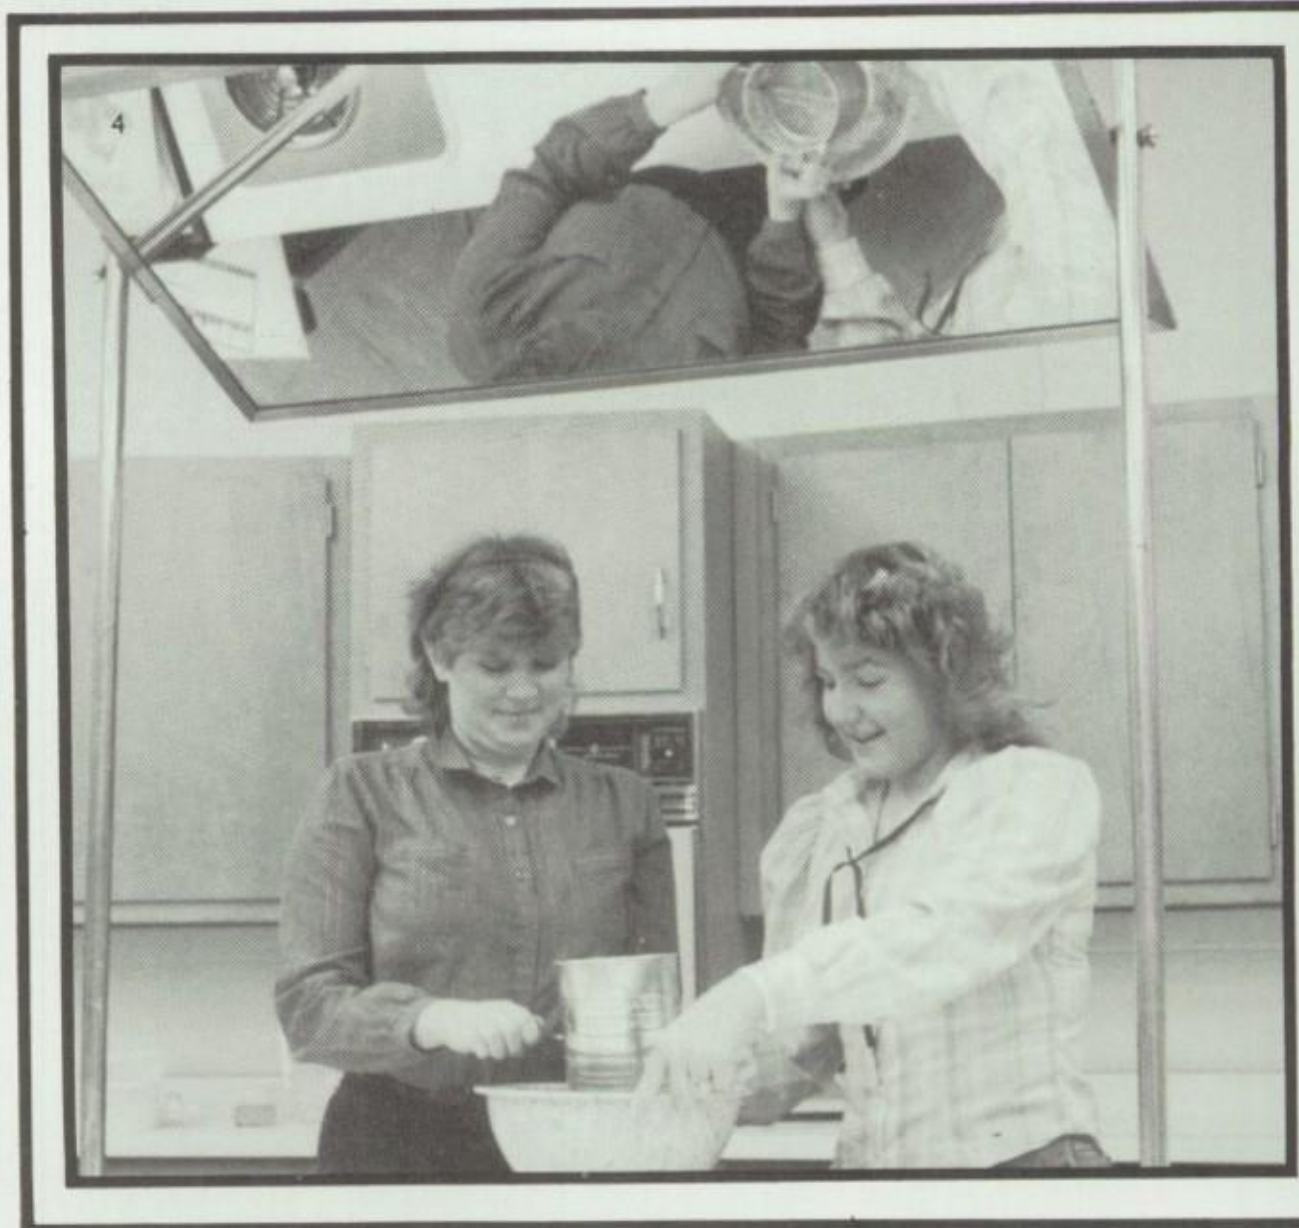

Hand sewing finishes off a garment. 8. The electric sewing machine moves swiftly and accurately. 9. Ironing is a "hot" task, but makes clothes neat. 10. Better menus today help students plan for more nutritious meals tomorrow.

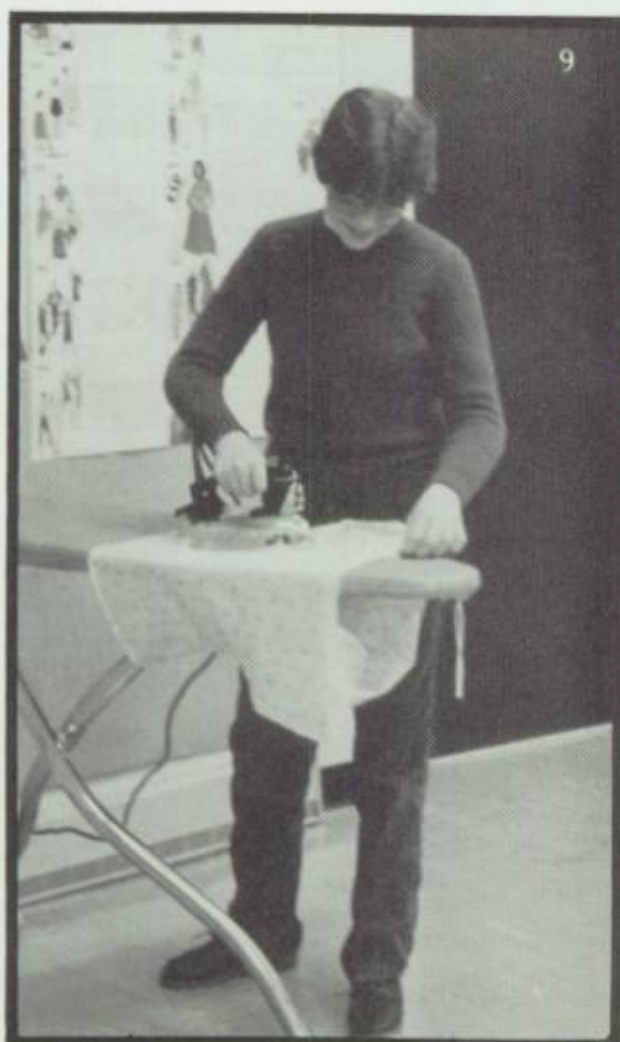

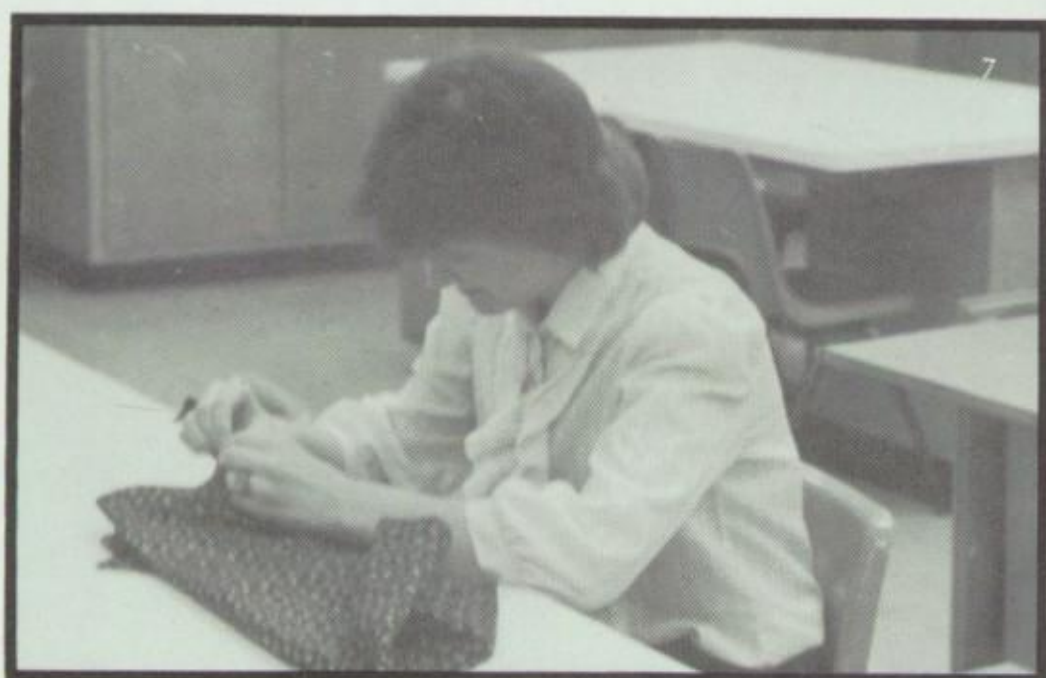

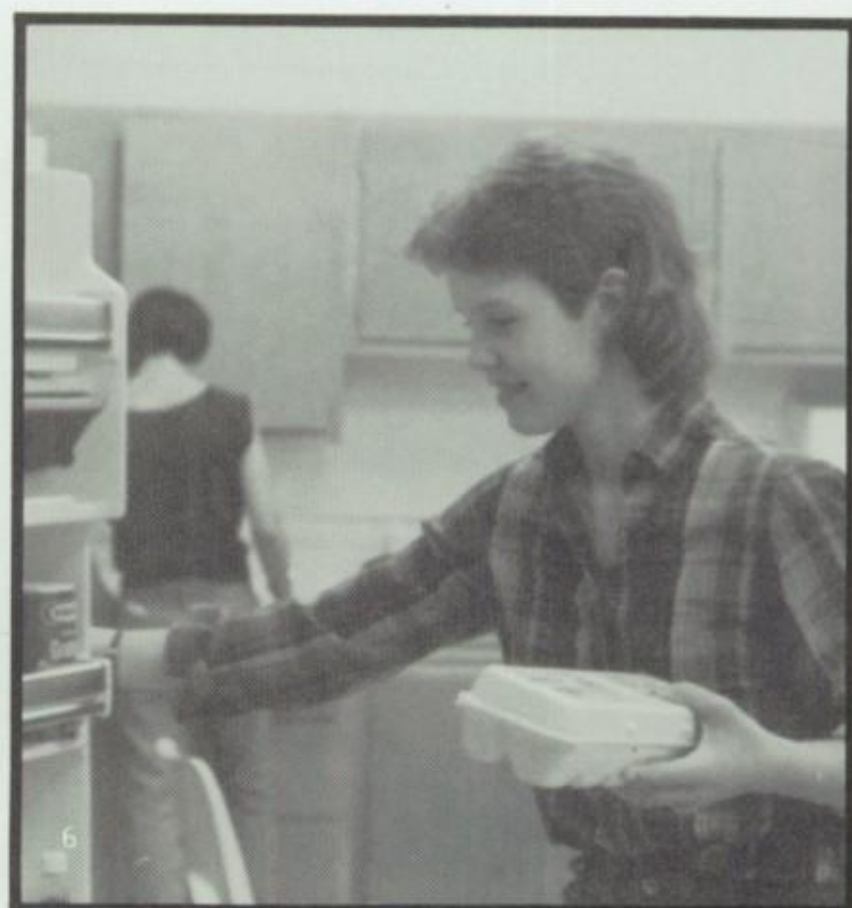

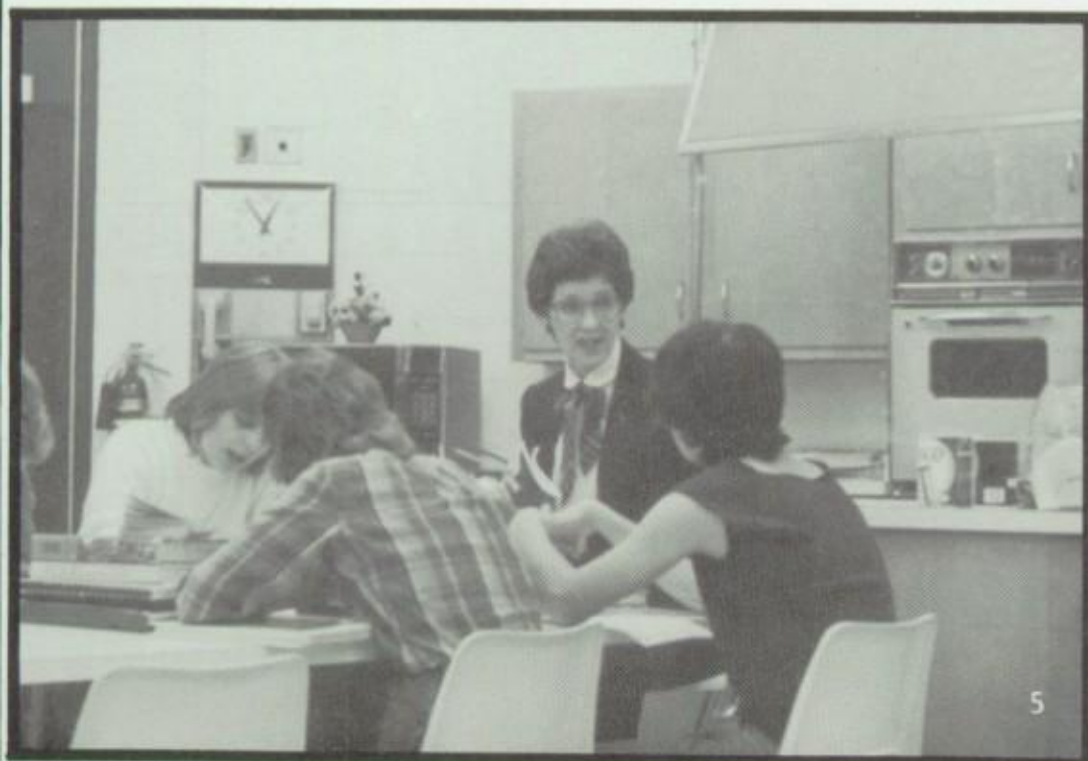

Home Economics is offered in many varied forms at DCHS. The classes range from Food I & II, Family Living, to Clothing I & II. Students learn how to properly prepare and serve foods, to budget, maintain, and keep an orderly home, and to select and construct attractive clothing. They learn ways to improve the home environment for better living. Home Ec students do learn better ways to prepare for the future.

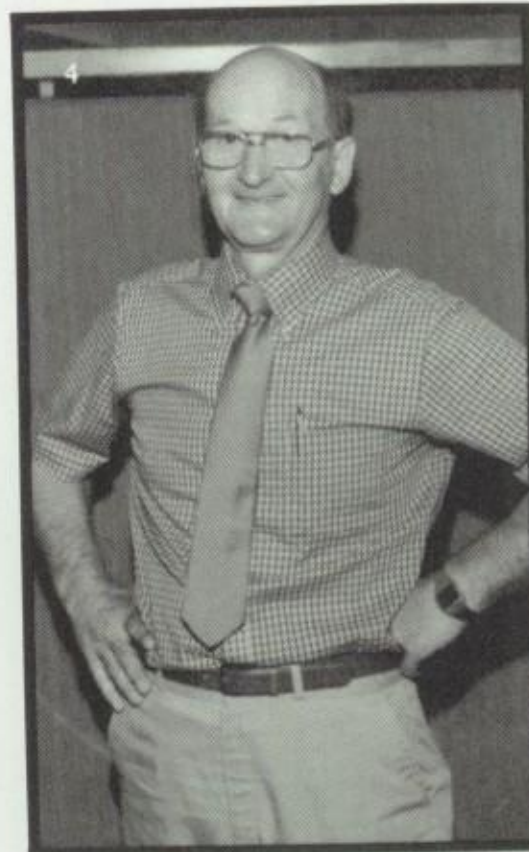

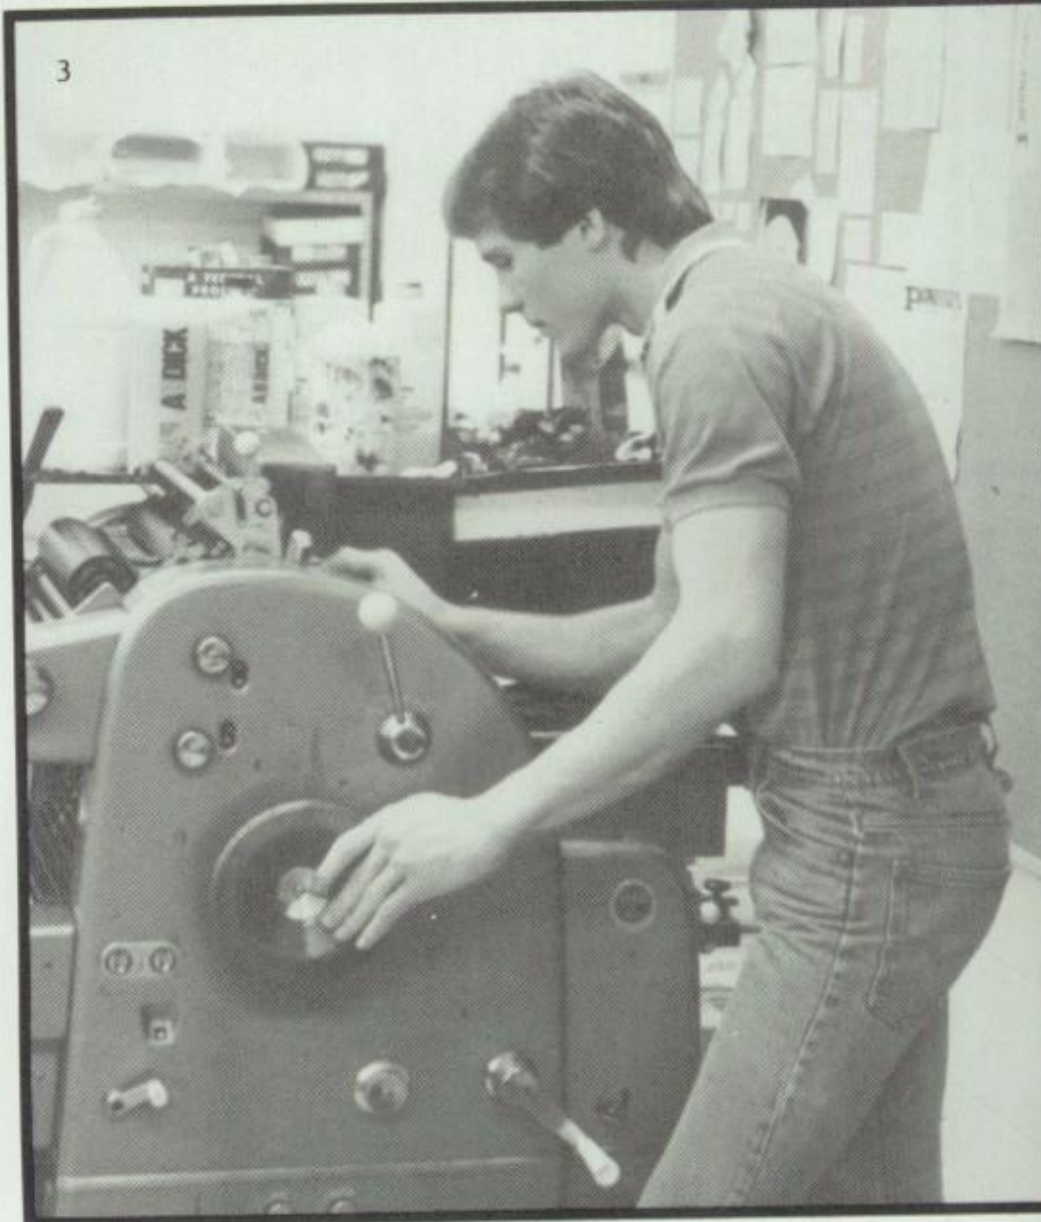

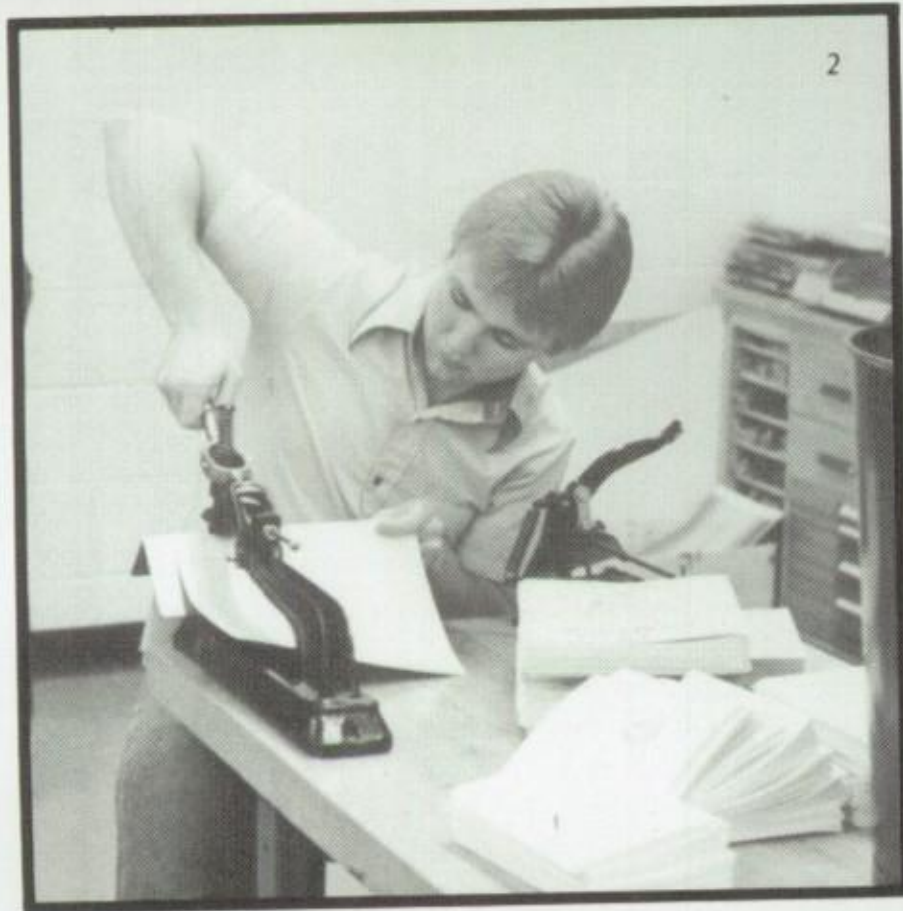

The young men and women of DCHS have found that the great variety of courses offered to them in the Home Economics department are not only informative, interesting, and practical, but they give solid information for living today as well as that all important plan of how one can best budget time, materials, and energy in tomorrow's living — whether it is maintaining a home or apartment "solo" or with one's own future family.

CLASSES MAKE MANY PROJECTS & BUILD HOUSE

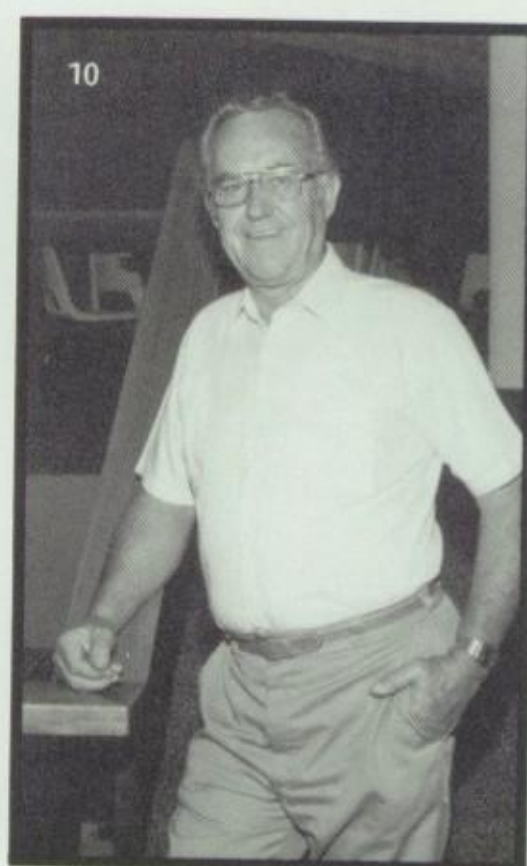

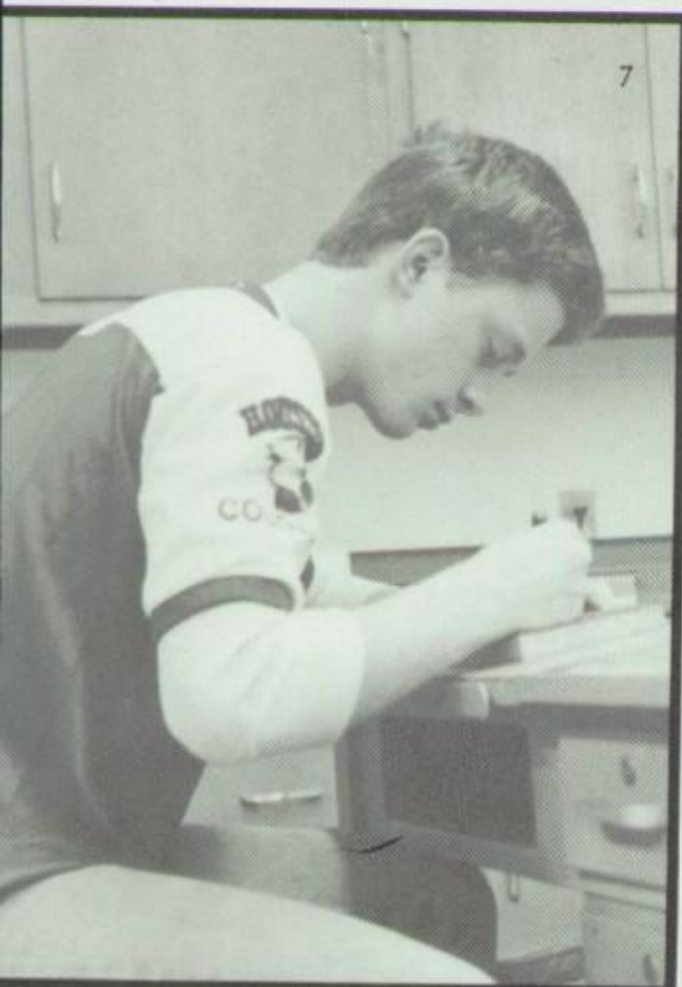

1. A door's framework is put together by Boyd Penn for the Building Trades house. 2. Graphic Arts student Brian Cook, helps print the DCHS Student Handbook. 3. Checking out his machine, Guy Selleck carefully observes the rules of safety. 4. Mr. John P. Beach. 5. Mr. Neal Anderson. 6. A group of Woods I students work on their projects. 7. An I.A. project is given detailed attention by Evan Houston. 8. A new piece of furniture for his bedroom is constructed by Tim Humphrey. 9. Mr. William Gray. 10. Mr. James Sullivan. 11. A student puts the use of a circular saw into constructive action.

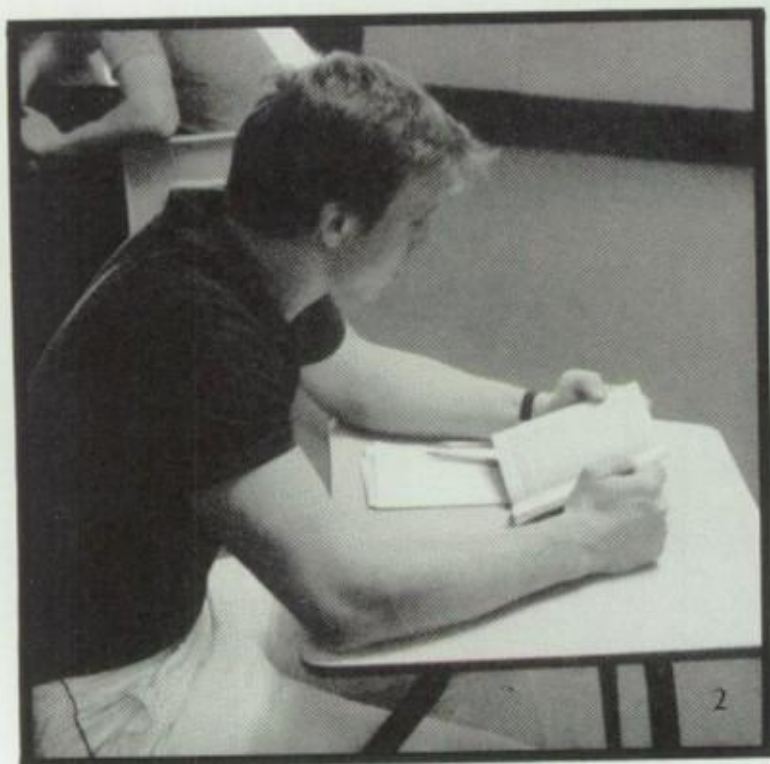

The Industrial Arts Department is an area that offers many and varied courses. Among those courses were: Woods I, II, and III; Power for both small and large engines; Graphic Arts; Manufacturing; Drafting; Metals I and II; Auto Mechanics; Car Repairs. All of the courses gave students valuable and practical knowledge and skills.

Works of the various classes were on display in the big school showcase and brought favorable comments.

Building Trades classes built a complete dome home in a wooded setting.

CHANCE TO GROW

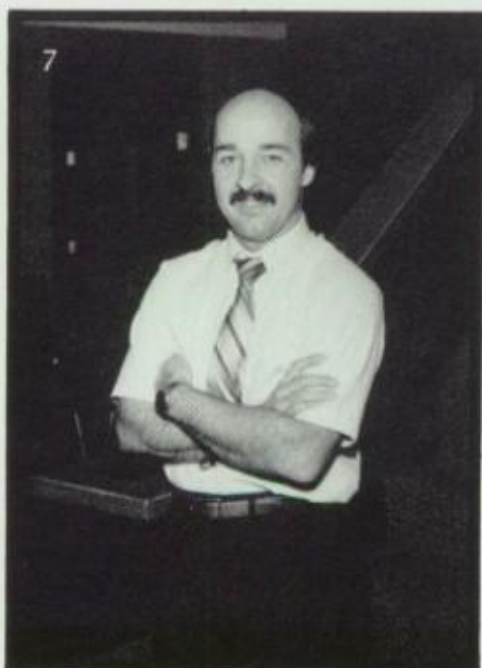

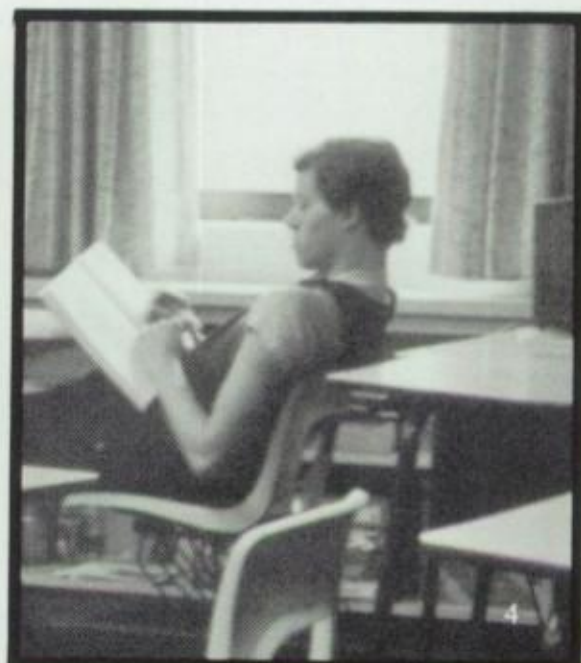

1. I.C.E. (Interdisciplinary Cooperative Education) student, Clarissa Downing, earned a paycheck and received class credit via local business cooperation with school coursework. 2. Jim Arion chose to enroll in a class to increase reading skills which would be a direct help in after school work. 3. Health Occupations class afforded Missy Kipp an opportunity to better understand technical medical skills. 4. Absorbed in reading a novel, an opportunity offered through a reading skills class, gave Mark Hartman an opportunity to enjoy himself in the world of books and develop his understanding of books as communicative tools. 5. Mrs. Overbeck checks books for the book bindery to refurbish.

6. STEVE HAGEN, Director of Interdisciplinary Cooperative Education Program. 7. Mrs. RUTH OVERBECK, R.N. and Director of Health Occupations. 8. Mrs. RONNIE THOMPSON, Reading Specialist.

A STEP AHEAD OF THE JOB

1. A paper is checked over for an assignment by Pam Greene. 2. Ready with the glue and brush, Dan Draper does a careful job in the book bindery. 3. Mrs. Beckner stands by to give student assistance at a moments notice. 4. Reading requires the complete concentration of Marty Kennedy. 5. A teacher consultation between William Stewart and Mrs. Fisher gives new thoughts to each person. 6. Mrs. ERIN FASSNACHT, Bookbindery Director. 7. MICHAEL SANDERS, P.V.E. Teacher. 8. Mrs. CAROL BECKNER, P.V.E. Teacher. 9. Mrs. DEBBIE FISHER, Director of Pre-Vocational Education.

PEOPLE WHO HELP PEOPLE

ORACLE IS NO MYTH

1984 SENIORS MAKE ALL THE RIGHT MOVES

"Looking out from DCHS
— we can find THE road!"

The Senior Class of 1984 looked back on their past years with sadness and to the future with excitement. Many memories filled their thoughts. How could anyone forget "The Wizard of Oz" and "Tom Sawyer" in fifth grade, dissecting frogs in seventh grade and the many picnics shared with their classmates in past springs. In the back of their minds were reflections of forgotten friendships and experiences. These memories dash in and out of one's thoughts like pictures that are stored away only to be taken out once in awhile. Friends, laughter, and disappointments blended together in reminiscences that were each Senior's alone. The thoughts of the past soon gave way to the new as these people who shared hopes and dreams wondered where their lives would lead them. Although school seemed to be their whole life, each was willing to take a step toward a new life with new dreams and goals.

JR. ROTARIANS AND STATERS

Hoosier Boys' and Girls' State delegates spent a week living an accelerated course in government. On the Indiana State University campus, they learned all the various functions of state and local governments. Staters participated in elections and held offices or acted as ordinary citizens. Students became mayors, judges, police officers, senators and representatives, while one outstanding citizen served as governor of the imaginary state. It was a week spent learning and making lasting friendships.

Junior Rotarians were young men selected to participate in Rotary Club luncheons by academic standing. Every Tuesday a senior escorted foreign exchange student Anne-Therese Dalimier and enjoyed a presentation by a guest speaker. This weekly event gave these young men the opportunity to learn more about Rotary and its functions.

SAIL AWAY . . .

Wisps of angel hair and tiny lights transformed the ballroom at Holiday Inn North into a paradise where memories were caught in fishnet and kept forever. Sail Away and Dream was the theme for the 1984 Junior-Senior Prom. Couples danced from 9:00 to 12:00 to the sounds of Looker and then chose their king and queen of the prom, Jon Zink and Kathy Powlen. Marsha Cooper and Ted Riley also reigned over the prom as princess and prince. The night of May 5, 1984 was a night that everyone "Sailed Away on Dreams."

1. 1984 Prom King and Queen, Jon Zink and Kathy Powlen dance the spotlight dance.
2. Tedd Riley and Marsha Cooper, Prince and Princess dance to the song "Sailing."
3. Michelle Huddleston crowns Kathy Queen of the Prom!

ON DREAMS

SOPHS SUCCEED

In their second year at DCHS, sophomores reflected on their past year in high school and planned for the years to come. They were led in their endeavor by class president Marla Archer, vice-president Candi Clawson, secretary Tina Hoshaw, treasurer Kelly Smith, and advisors Charles Geheb and Mrs. Debra Fisher. In all, they attempted to make a success of the year and to reach their goals, whether they were long or short-range ones.

CLASS OF 1987!

Being new to DCHS during the 1983-84 school year, the class of "87" adjusted well. They were led by Class President Julia Shock, Vice-President Wendy Wilburn, Secretary Yvonne Cox, Treasurer Melissa Coble, and Class Advisors Mr. David Beale and Mrs. Laura Baker. Throughout the year the frosh showed both their spirit and DCHS pride at all the school activities.

The class undertook two very big projects to raise revenue during the year, one being the selling of calendars and the other a dance featuring — Ground Zero. Both of their money-making projects were successful. The class of 1987 looks to the future and the day when they are the SENIORS of DCHS.

Homecoming festivities generated excitement during the week of September 26. Special days were 'Twenties', 'Fifties', 'Future', and 'Black and Gold' These held Tuesday through Friday with a pep session last hour of the latter day.

The cheering started with a parade to Hillcrest Field. Banners were carried by members of the four classes. A tug-o-war tournament was held: Sophomores vs. Juniors, the Freshmen vs. Seniors. Juniors then took on Seniors for championship which Seniors won but faculty members wanted to get in the action.

They took on the class of '84 but the match turned out to be a draw because of 'TECHNICAL DIFFICULTIES' — the rope kept breaking! Everybody anticipated the announcement of Homecoming Queen which was made that night at the game. It was a fun time throughout the week until Southmont handed D.C.H.S. a loss.

When sound, movement and color go together — the crowd goes wild . . . and wild the viewers went when the DCHS performing groups stepped before their audiences. Lively tunes played with skill, the lights reflecting on the instruments, and cleverly coordinated movements caught in rhythms that excited the performers and those they performed for . . . yes, it was a "hot time in the old town" when DCHS students performed.

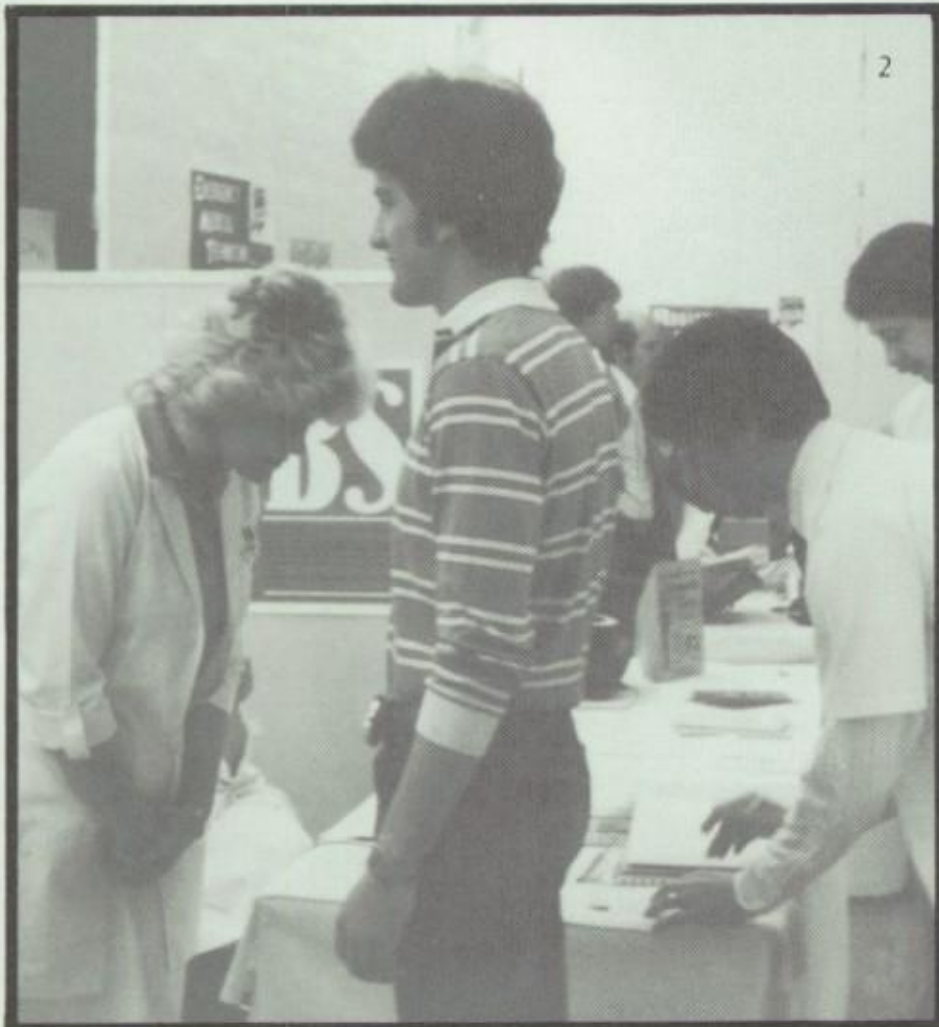

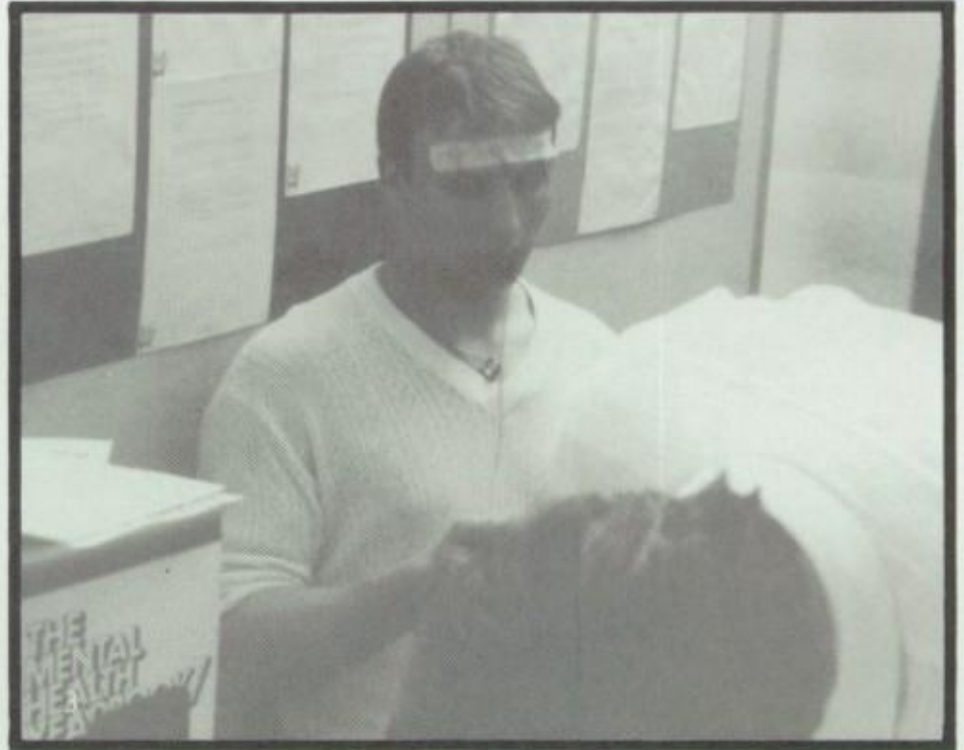

GO FOR IT . . . AND WIN

There are many leaders in a school, but the cheerleaders have a very special job. They are among those who try to keep the school spirit alive and well. This year was the first year for alternates and it worked out really well. The alternate for Varsity was Beth Marks; for J.V., Candy Clawson; for Freshman, Kelly Brown.

Governor Robert Orr sponsored The Indiana Heartbeats Festival as a statewide project. Its main purpose was to increase the awareness about medical care and its benefits. The school nurse Mrs. Betty Bordner was the Chairperson for this event. There were nine people on the steering committee, they were: Dr. Charles Skurka, Mr. Garald Managan, Dr. Charles Hobbs, Mrs. Betty Bordner, Mrs. Ruth Overbeck, Mrs. Bedeva Bowling, Mr. Davis Beale, Ms. Joyce Lawton, and Ms. Claudette Etter.

HEARTBEATS FESTIVAL

A CAPPELLA — VERSATILE

The A Cappella Choir is the larger of the two choirs at DCHS and consists mainly of sophomores, juniors, and seniors. This choir proved that it was "A little bit country and a little bit rock 'n roll" with their Oracle Bandstand performance which contained songs of country and the world of rock music. They also attended choir contest where they received good ratings.

BLEND WITH A MADRIGAL

The Madrigals of DCHS Choir Dept. were chosen on the basis of blended voice quality. It was very important that the people chosen blend well because Madrigals sing without the assistance of a piano.

Madrigals are a style of song like that of the King Arthur era. Unfortunately, many of the Madrigal songs of that era were destroyed as people felt there was no reason to keep them. They presumed that more songs could be written if there was a need.

The Madrigal group was formed mainly for the purpose of contest competition. Since many of the singers were busy with solo and ensemble competition at the time of madrigal contest, the group met several times for early morning rehearsals. The Madrigals performed at contest and proved to be pretty tough competition for some of the larger schools in the area.

LET THEM ENTERTAIN YOU

The Entertainers was a group of the top singers in the school. Students must audition to gain membership in this singing group. They represented Delphi Community High School well when performing for the various local meetings, clubs, and organizations.

Throughout the year, the Entertainers, under the direction of Mr. Kevin Kayser, sang such tunes as "Sweet Georgia Brown" and "Rock and Roll Music." They also attended show choir contest where they were well received.

The Entertainers, with fantastic accompaniment, rocked their way through a successful musical year.

POTENTIAL!!

The concert choir consisted mainly of freshmen but still proved to be strong support for the A Cappella choir as well as a nice sound when alone. They performed various numbers at "Oracle Bandstand" and the Christmas Concert as well as the corporation music festival. Many of these students will soon be welcome additions to the A Cappella Choir.

THE ARTISTS SPEAK

Students from Hillcrest, Camden, Delphi Community Middle School, and Delphi Community High School worked diligently on their projects presented at the Delphi Art Show. Professional artists' works were also displayed. On April 29 and May 4, 1984, the public was invited to visit the Art Show. Students at DCHS were free to tour the area, as well as DCMS and Hillcrest and Camden students. Demonstrations of art techniques were given which added color to the occasion. All were delighted by scenes from the past as well as works for the future as the theme "ART STEPS INTO THE FUTURE" was amply exhibited.

ART STEPS INTO THE FUTURE

DAVID AND LISA — A THEATRICAL GREAT

The fall play, David and Lisa, was one of the highlights of the year. Just as the Oracles of ancient times displayed theatrical talents, the Oracles at DCHS demonstrated great organization and talent as their theater presentation was borne.

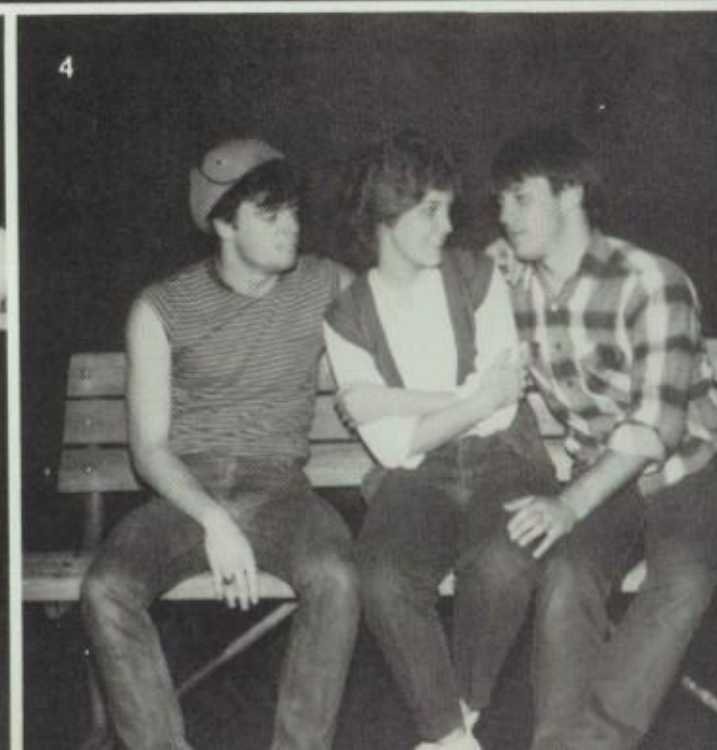

One talented actor, Pat Pearson, performed in his twelfth play. As David Clements, Pearson portrayed dramatically a young man who, being abnormally fearful of death, was sent to a special school in West Chester. While attending, he met Lisa, a schizophrenic young lady with a double personality. As Lisa, Kim Myers (also a veteran in the theatrical field) displayed admirable flexibility in playing her dual-personality role.

Behind the scenes, Mr. Morris Buck, along with his assistant Kim Batley, led in directing the presentation. Many other capable students contributed to the unity of the play by aiding all to run smoothly and pleasantly for the audience on the fourth and fifth of November, 1983.

BUTTERFLY USED AS STAGE MOTIF

During the clean-up of the concentration camps of World War II, it was noticed that hundreds of butterflies were carved into barracks, bed supports, and other surfaces. It was determined that these were symbols that stood for hope and freedom. Likewise, this symbol was used as the basic stage unit to help signify the hope and freedom from the problems depicted by the different characters.

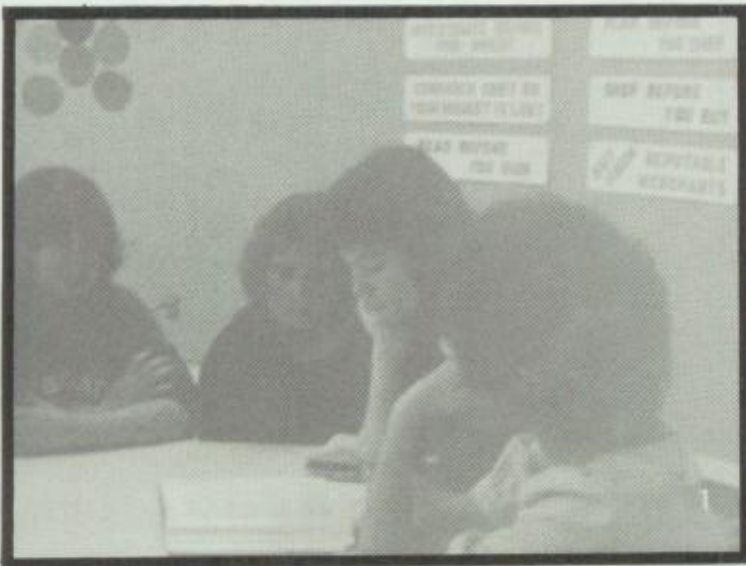

1. In the dramatic highlight of the play, David (Pat Pearson) triumphantly takes Lisa's (Kim Myers) hand. 2. The staff at West Chester (Shirley Munson, Chris Goyer, Paul Wagoner, Erik Rose, David Cripe, and Shari Al-Abbas) discusses David's case. 3. Mrs. Clemens (Kim Lewis), Mr. Clemens (David Ginn), and David (Pat Pearson) debate the possibility of sending David to a special school. 4. Lisa (Kim Myers) encounters the unexpected when she runs away from school. (Also shown is Dave Armstrong and Bob Lynch) 5. Jeff Bol, Andrew Phillips, Mr. Morris Buck, and Dale James all work diligently in preparation for the play. 6. A girl (Marla Archer) gets a scolding from her mother (Chris Flora). 7. Classmates of David's include (Front) Amy Wentzle, Brad Powlen, Susan Schai, (Back) Jim Gasser, and Kim Batley. 8. Technical Workers. Front: Neal Lybrook, John Buchanon, Steve Hinkle, Ben Stauffer, Andrew Phillips. Back: Patti Clark, Brenda George, Rita Yoder, Kim Batley, Mr. Morris Buck. 9. An overview of the stage set.

Youth ARC stands for Youth Association for Retarded Citizens. It is affiliated with the Carroll County ARC, State ARC and National ARC. Membership is open to all DCHS students interested in helping and giving of their time to aid retarded citizens. They are active in the community in drives to raise funds for the retarded and this very special group of interested young citizens are of great help in running the Special Olympics Track and Field Day each year.

HI-Y

The HI-Y Club is a service organization. It is the counter pardner of the Sunshine Society. During the year the club had many different activities. Included were escorting the queen candidates at homecoming, ushering for the school dramatic activities, and giving food baskets to the needy at Christmas time.

The club was led by President Brett Zimpfer, Vice President Pat Pearson, Secretary Kevin Stevens, Treasurer Matt Phillips, and Chaplin Jim Gasser. The club's adviser was Mr. Robert Tyner.

CUSTOM AUTO MECHANICS

Custom Auto Mechanics or the Cam club was an organization for those taking auto mechanics at DCHS. Throughout the year the club spent their time working on cars, trucks, vans, and other vehicles.

Early in the year the club sponsored a car wash to raise money. The car wash was very successful. In all the club gained great insight into the automobile industry. These students worked both for today and for their future in auto mechanics.

CHECKMATE!

DCHS's Chess Club consisted of 28 fine players. The club was divided into two groups according to their lunch periods. Each member played other members within their group until only one person remained unbeaten in each lunch period. After the winner from each group was decided they played for the over-all championship. During the school year two such tournaments were played.

1. ACTIVITIES "SPICE UP" SPANISH CLUB

Various activities spiced up the year for Spanish Club. A car wash took place in September, a hay ride was in the fall, and a dinner at Pepe's was scheduled for the latter part of the year.

Besides these activities, Luciana Machado, an exchange student from Brazil, was a speaker at a club meeting. She had a slide presentation and gave students insight on activities in Brazil such as school, and free-time activities. Luciana and Anne-Therese Dalimier, another exchange student who attended DCHS, spoke to the group on the subject of Christmas in foreign countries.

In addition, several students including Maggie McCormick, Debbie Ringer, Ginger Humbarger, Michelle Clawson, and Kim Cox planned a summer trip to Mexico where they hoped to make a study of the land and its people first-hand.

GERMAN CLUB MEMBERS GO TO EUROPE

For several members of German Club, the highlight of the year was a trip to Europe. These students learned more about European ways of life and were able to share their new-found knowledge with fellow students when they returned home. Another highlight of the year was the annual German Club party which was held at the home of the Cobles.

STUDENTS . . . FROM ABROAD AND GOING ABROAD

Students of DCHS were privileged to have among them Luciana Machado, an exchange student from Brazil, and Anne-Therese Dalimier, an exchange student from Belgium. It was an experience for both these young ladies as well as for those who befriended them. Learning a new language, being separated from family and friends, and adjusting to a new culture and new customs were just a few of the problems faced by the exchange students. Both girls expressed their fears of such an adventure; both also told of their joys and discoveries during what they believed to be one of the most memorable times of their lives.

In addition, a student of DCHS, Jeff Sims, traveled abroad to be an exchange student in Australia. He, too, gained first-hand knowledge of a new land and culture.

1. Anne-Therese finally begins to understand American humor. 2. Luciana and Anne-Therese became lasting friends sharing many good times while in the United States. 3. "You Americans are just camera happy," thinks Luciana as she turns around, only to be the subject of another snapshot.

DCHS SUNSHINE SOCIETY

Helping others was the motto for this great society. This organization is one of people helping people. There are many activities during the year. This was the first year that the Sunshine Society co-sponsored a dance with the FFA. The dance was open only to Sunshine and FFA members and their dates. They donated three hundred dollars to the Riley Childrens Fund and five hundred towards cancer research. Collecting food and sending it to needy families at Christmas time shows what the society really stands for. It is true that the Sunshine Society holds a lot of activities for members, but this is how they the society raises money for all the giving they do. Mrs. Wolf and Mrs. Grimm put in many hours to get things organized for different events. The Sunshine officers also put in many hours to make every event a success.

HEALTH OCCUPATIONS

Health Occupation Students of America or otherwise known as HOSA was an organization of students interested in the medical field. The year's club was under the leadership of President Kim Lewis, V-P Chris Goyer, Secretary Angie Brown, Treasurer Missy Kipp, Corresponding Secretary Carol Reef, and scrapbook chairman Cindy Boston. Early in the year HOSA held a bake sale and sold calenders for their money making projects.

During the year the club did many things, such as, taking blood pressures during Open House and during Vocational Education week. They helped with vision screening at Hillcrest, and scoliosis screening at DCMS to name a few. During the Heart Beats Festival, the club worked in the heart and body clinic. In all, HOSA had a productive year.

HEY: A STEP FOR THE FUTURE

HEY or Home Economics for Youth Club, was a club that helped its members learn the necessary things in life. All the members had an interest in the homemaking part of life that everyone must learn. They all enjoyed cooking and sewing.

Under the supervision of advisor Mrs. Bedeva Bowling, the club sponsored an Easter Basket raffle during the week before Easter and raffled off three baskets.

FFA GOES TO MISSOURI

A key event for some FFA members was a trip to Kansas City, Missouri, in November where they attended the National Convention. First they toured John Deere Tractor Plant and Ellsworth College, then attended convention for four days. Members Michele Shank and Darryl Lybrook brought home first place ribbons for specific categories at District Leadership Contest and County Livestock Judging Contest.

LET THE PRESSES ROLL!

In journalism class, students learned first-hand how a newspaper is produced. They were reporters, copy writers, photographers, layout artists, and much more. With the help of Mrs. Earleen Alvarez, their adviser, they learned the headaches and joys of producing DCHS's monthly newspaper, The Parnassus.

On April 13, 14, 15, of 1984, the students in the cast of The Sound of Music, created a setting of an Austria just prior to World War II. As the musical opened, down the aisles came a solemn procession of nuns singing beautiful hymns. Then appears a young postulant, Maria, who loved God very much, but who had a difficult time in adjusting to the vocation of the nun. The drama unfolds to tell the story of how this young woman is sent by the Mother Abbess to become a governess in a wealthy man's household, and how that widowed husband and his six children fall in love with her. The Captain and Maria (and this is a real life story) are married and when the Nazis invade Austria are forced to flee their beloved homeland ... and eventually come to America.

The original musical was a Broadway smash hit and was no less enjoyed in New York than the audiences in the DCHS Little Theater who spent an evening being entertained by a hardworking and talented cast, band and crew.

The 1984 Oracle Staff worked hard to supply its subscribers with all the best memories of the 1984-85 school year. Staffers had to keep up on daily events, as well as the major ones of the year. Each staffer gained knowledge about writing and photography for publishing, and also about working with others in a sometimes tense atmosphere when deadlines roll around. Yet it is an experience fondly remembered.

The DCHS Cross Country Team experienced a long and tough year in 1983. Under the guidance of third year Coach Greg Lighty, the harriers showed a lot of improvement as the season progressed.

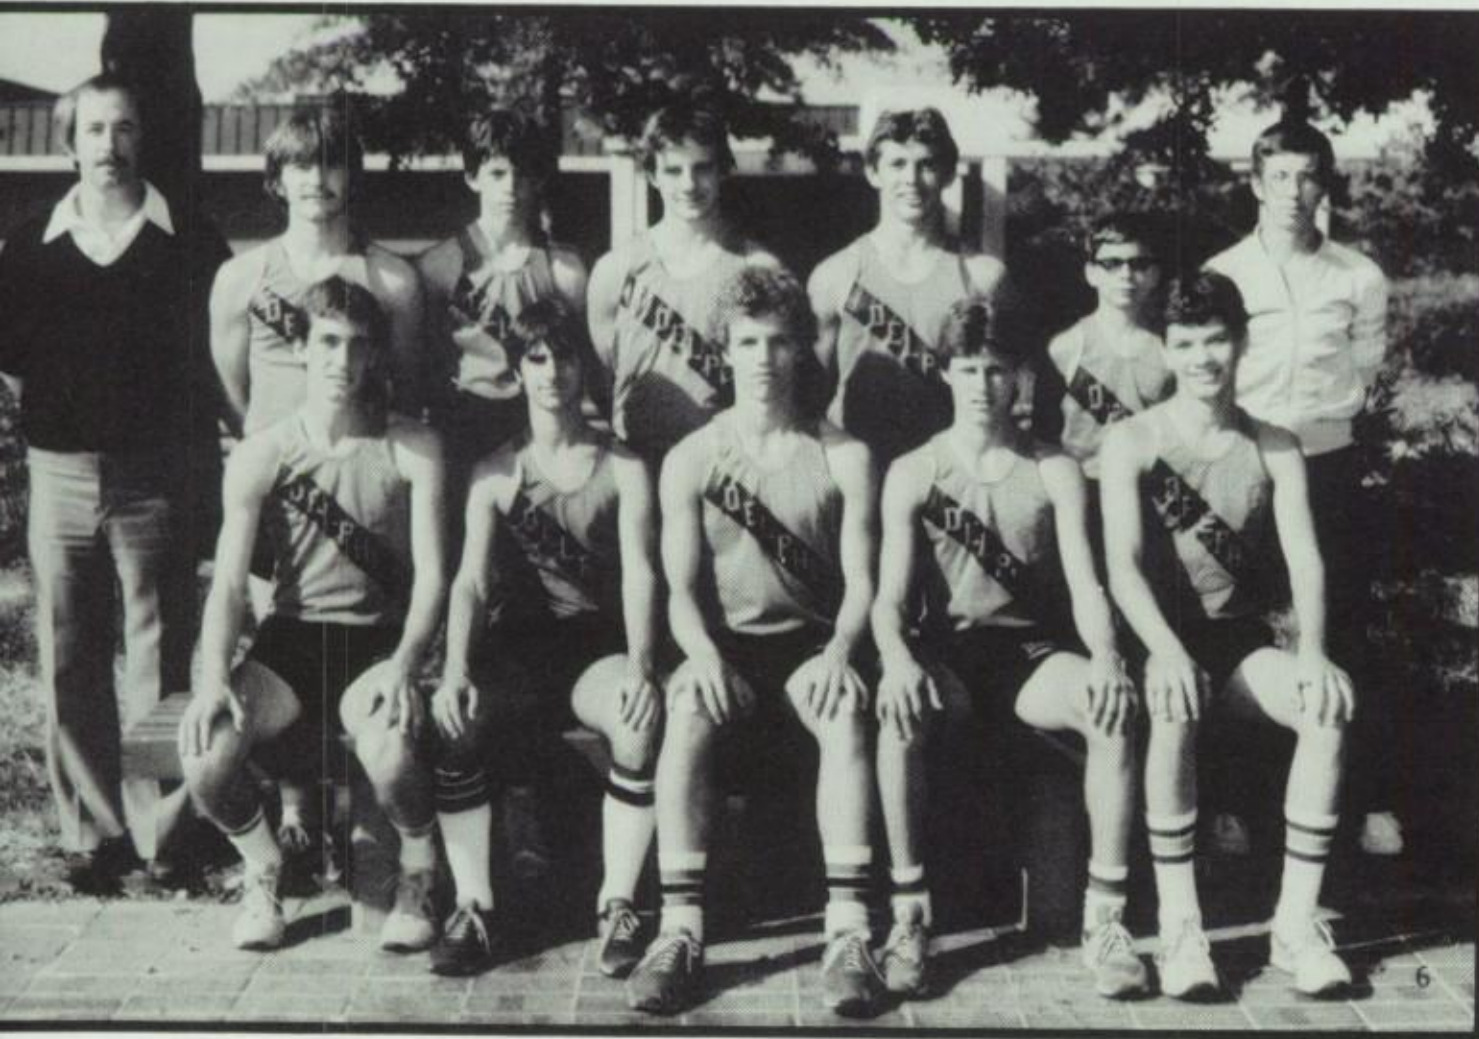

A new dimension was added to the squad this year. For the first time in the history of DCHS there was a complete girl's Cross Country team. With veteran runner, senior Terri Roberson, the team showed a lot of spirit and enthusiasm in their meets.

Both the boys and the girls team broke school records this year. For the boys, sophomores Jim McCurdy set a new school record and for the girls, junior Natalie Gish set a new record. Senior Jon Snyder, a four year letterman in the sport, along with McCurdy were members of the boys All-Hoosier Conference team. For the girls, Natalie Gish represented DCHS on the girls All-Hoosier Conference team.

The varsity football team finished their season with a 2-8 record. The two big wins came against Lafayette C.C. and Benton Central. It was the game which gave Coach Berto his 200th victory, a day long-awaited by Coach Berto.

The year started out slowly for the Oracles, but improved swiftly as the season progressed. The young team which had only nine seniors, played hard and gave their all-out effort for the sport.

The 83-84 team will be remembered in the future as one of the hardest working teams that DCHS ever produced.

With a little experience under their belt, the JV football team started their long awaited season. After many long hours of practice the team took the field for their first game with McCutcheon. Although they came out on the down side, they showed DCHS that they had real power. In their future games they proved that they were a real threat. After ending their season with a 3-3 record. They made a winning season not only a dream but a reality also.

The freshmen Football team started their first DCHS football season in a slow manner. After two quick losses the team came on strong to beat Lewis Cass by a score of 18-6. As the season progressed they won 2 more games. The team as a whole gained great knowledge of both the game of football and what it is like to play a team sport, that is to work with others to achieve one certain goal, to be a success. They proved that they would be great ORACLES of the future.

Season Record8-7

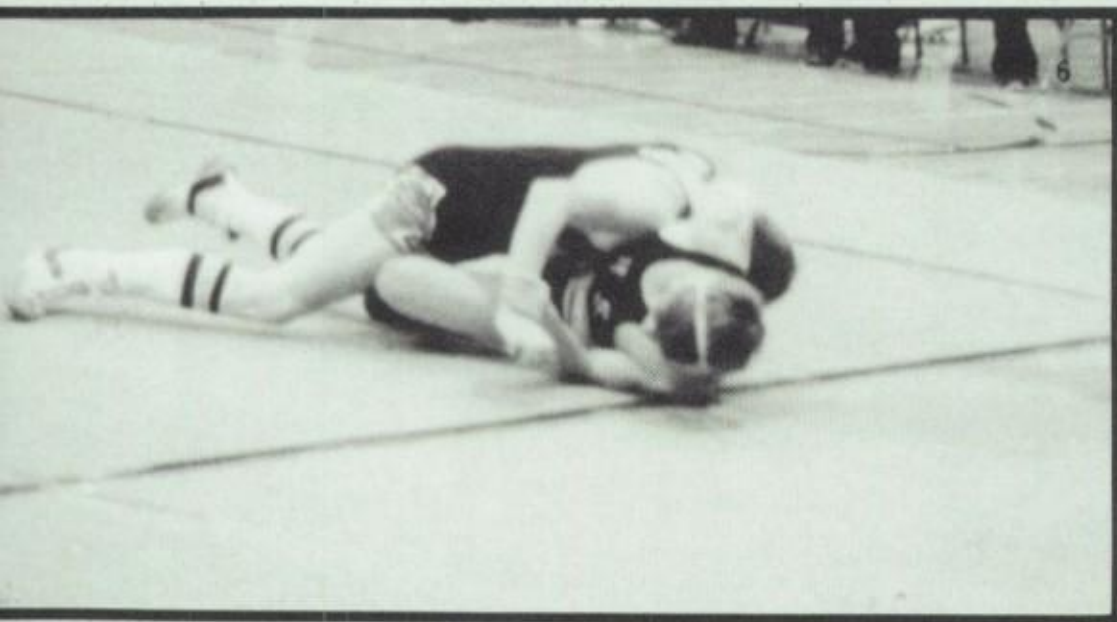

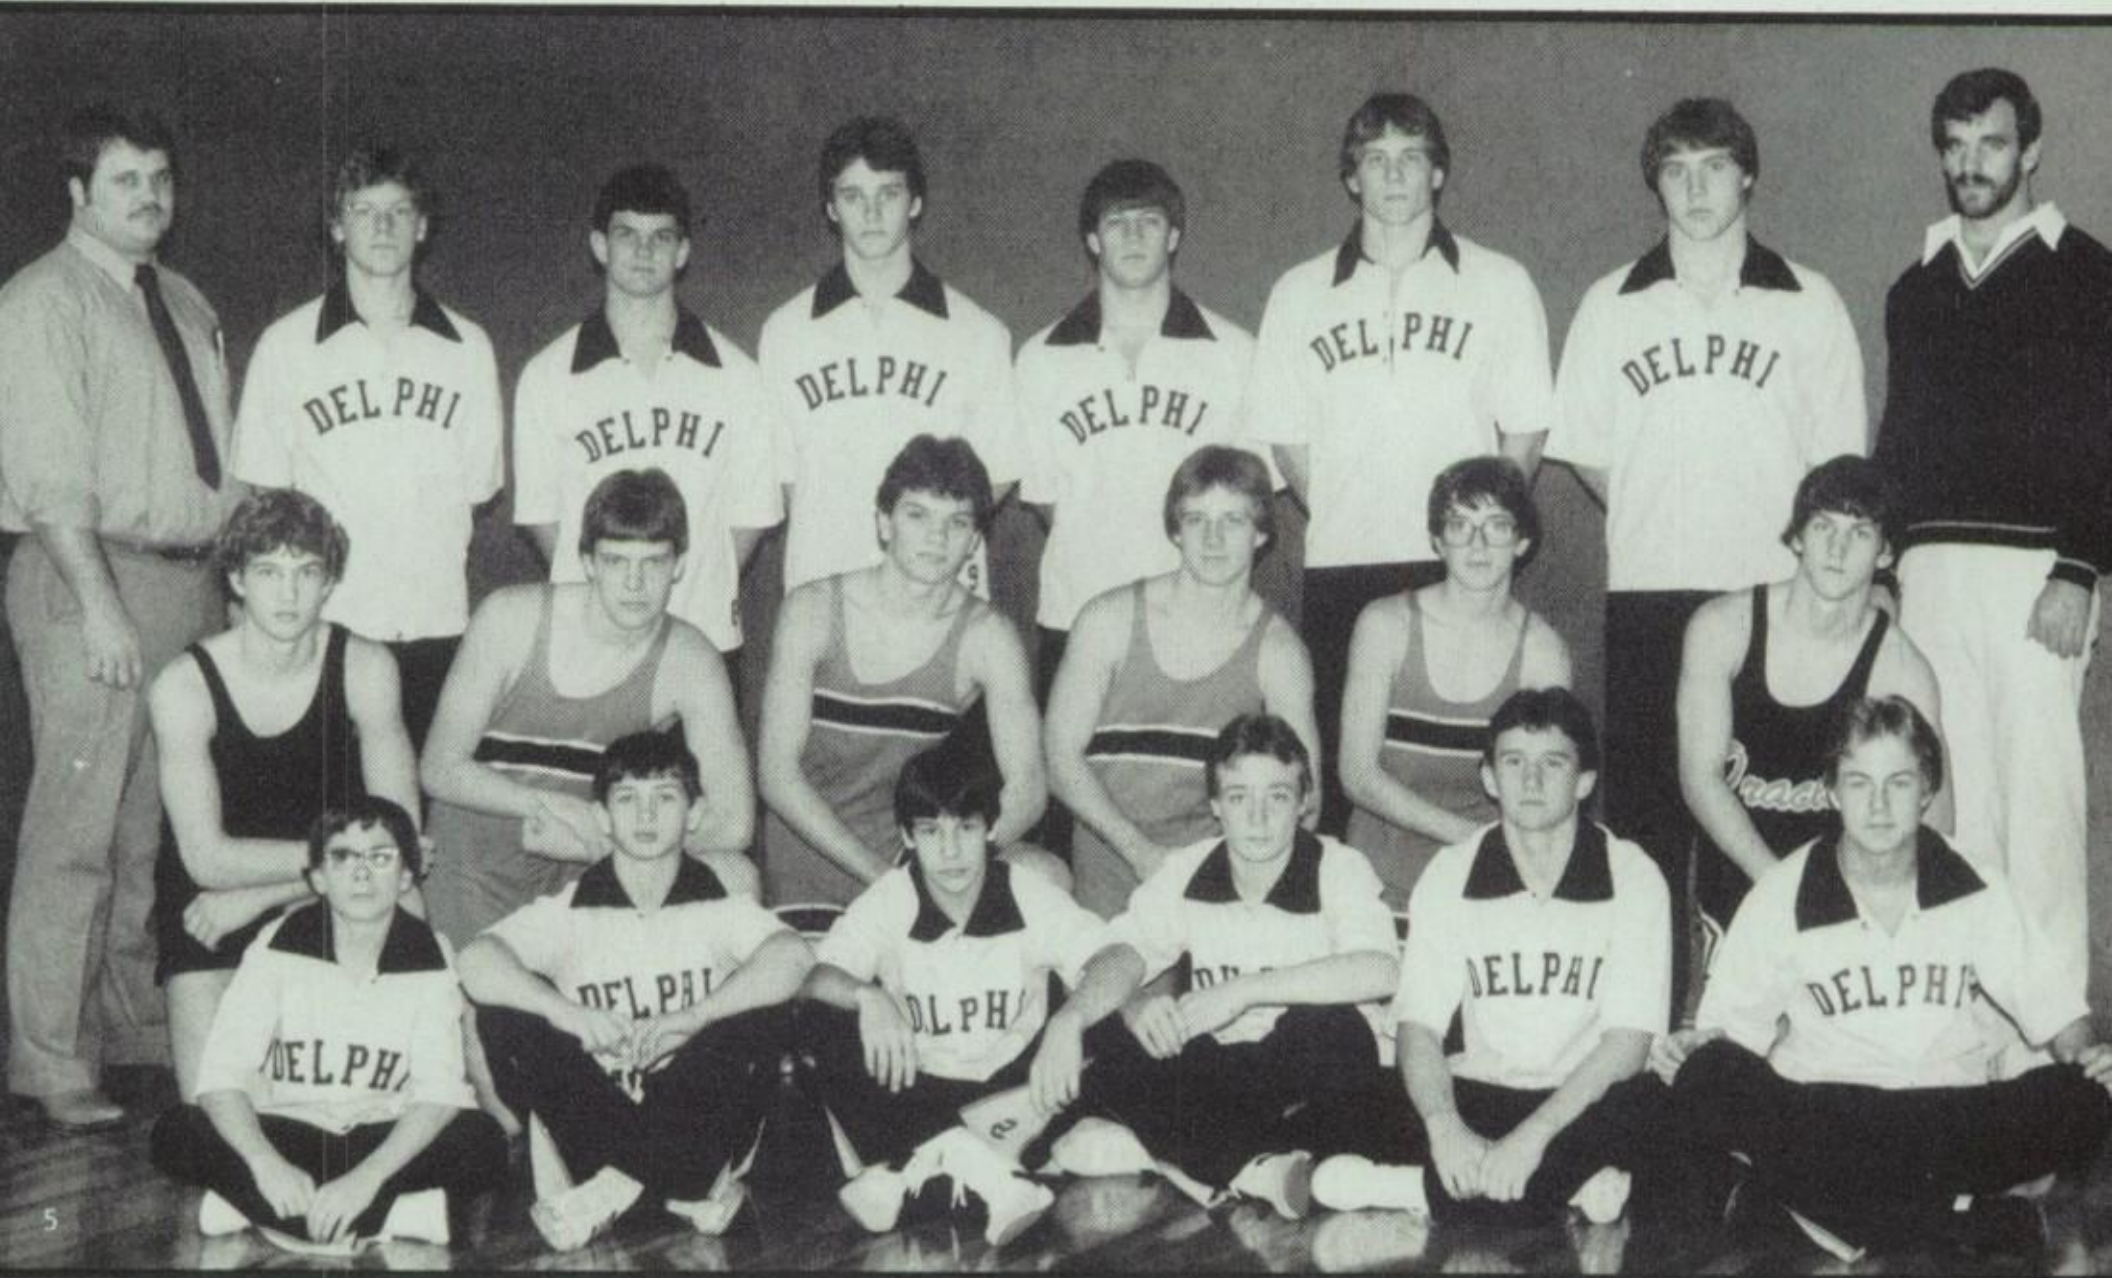

DCHS wrestlers had a great season. They finished the year with a 8-9 record, but don't let the numbers fool you. They won the sectional and placed fifth in the regional. Senior Guy Selleck advanced to state and placed fifth, and sophomore John Kipp went to semi-state, not bad for his first year on the varsity squad.

The DCHS wrestling team was young, and shows great potential in the years ahead.

GIRL SWIMMERS WORK HARD . . .

The girls swim team was very young, as it consisted of one senior, six sophomores, and two freshmen. The girls, with the help of coach Claudette Etter, worked hard throughout the season, and showed great improvement and potential as the year went along.

HIT OR MISS

Basketball requires stamina, speed, aggression, good offense and defense, and some height.

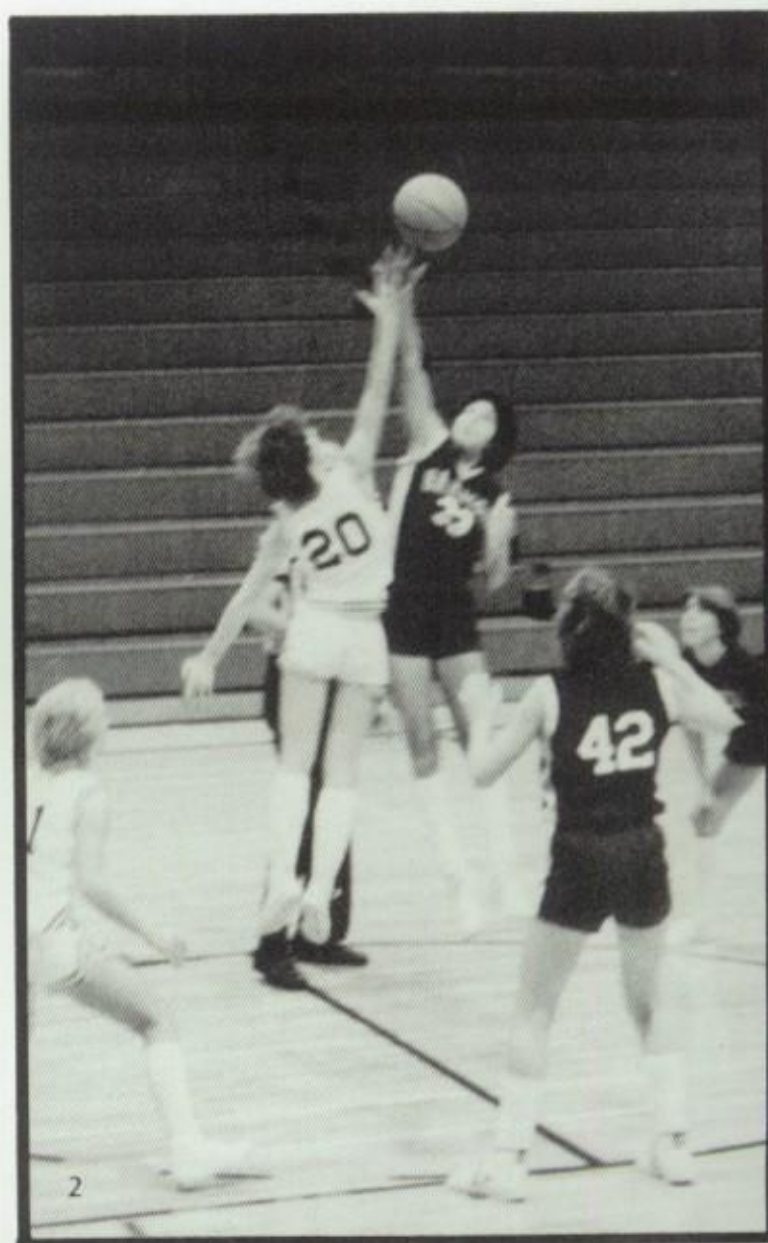

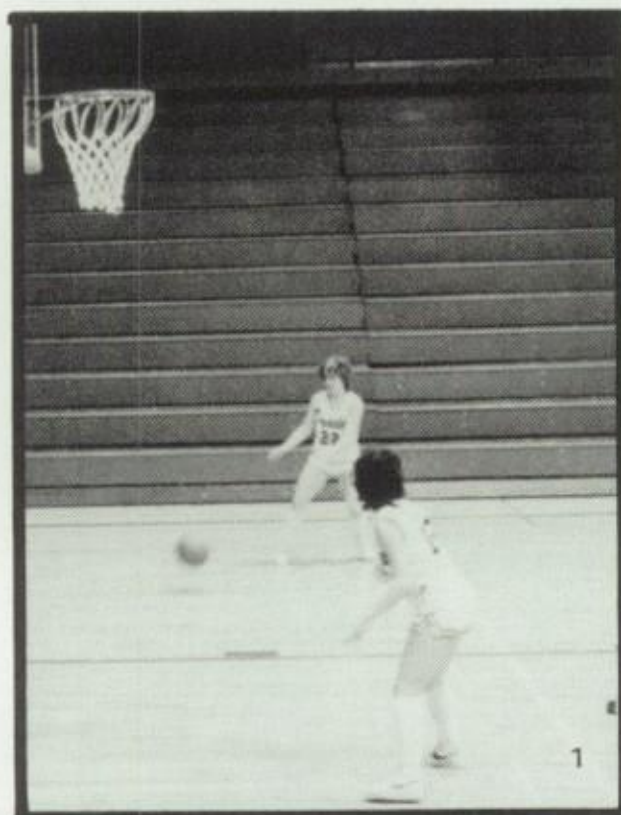

The Junior Varsity Girls Basketball team lacked little in these important areas. Enthusiasm also played a great part in their success for the year. The team definitely learned that the "up" moments were much more important than the "down" moments.

Therefore, keeping life in their play, the girls showed potential for upcoming varsity years. Coach Karen Hanni with the help of assistant coach Dave Rishel, kept them on their feet and shared with them the joy of victory and the agony of defeat.

LADY ORACLES

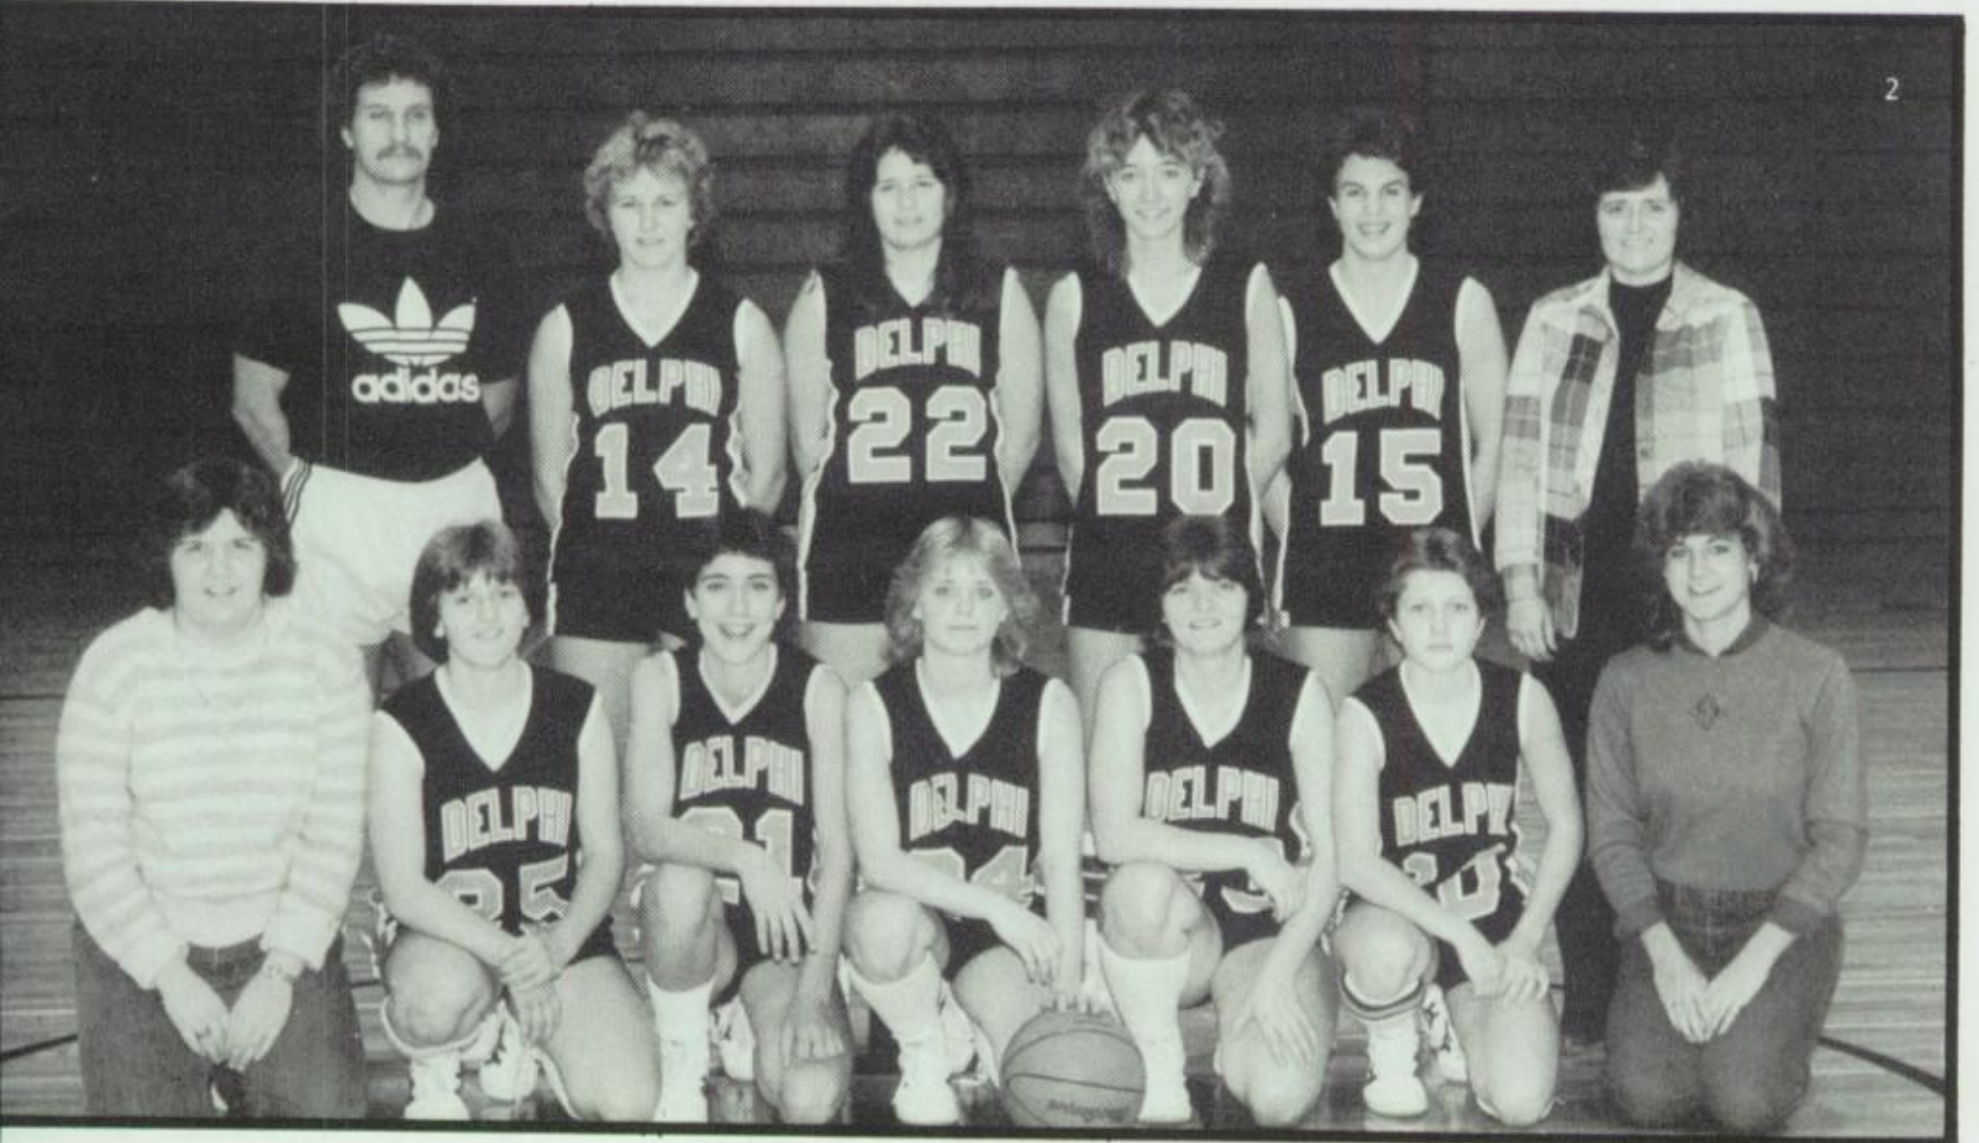

The Girls Varsity Basketball team had that little extra experience and skill that lacks on the J.V. team. For many of the players, junior varsity basketball provided them with some skills and moves that were essential for a successful varsity team. The team was well-rounded in that it contained a sophomore, 5 juniors, and 3 seniors. The girls close season record showed that they were a squad with some ups and downs. They liked the up moments but learned to accept the down times as well.

your future depends on plenty of electric power

More than 20 million people will join the U.S. work force by the year 2000. Hundreds of thousands of them will be right here in Indiana. And more likely than not, you'll be one of them.

Jobs depend on an ever-increasing supply of electricity—to power machines and equipment, to light, heat and cool offices and factories, to add muscle-power to manpower.

That's why we're working today—building ahead—to make sure that when you're ready to join the work force, we'll be ready for you.

Electricity does power progress.

Scenario For A Winner

A winner says, "Let's find out;" a loser says, "Nobody knows."

A winner makes commitments. A loser makes promises

A winner says, "I'm good, but not as good as I ought to be;" a loser says, "I'm not as bad as a lot of other people."

A winner credits his "good luck" for winning — even though it wasn't his good luck; a loser blames his "bad luck" for losing — even though it wasn't his bad luck.

A winner listens; a loser just waits until it's his turn to talk.

A winner does more than his job; a loser says, "I only work here."

A winner says, "I fell;" a loser says, "Somebody pushed me."

On behalf of the 1984 Oracle Staff; we, the editors, would like to express our sincere hope that this book will be filled with all the memorable events of the 1984 school year and bring back cherished memories to all its readers. It has been a tremendous undertaking and would not have been possible without the contributions of a number of people. We wish to thank: Jerry's Photography for the excellent senior portraits, pictures of clubs, sports, and special events of the year. The Carroll County Comet for use of picture 5 on page 129, and picture 7 on page 5.

All local business who helped support the 1984 Oracle with the purchase of an ad.

To the administration and the faculty for all their contributions and patience for interrupted classes.

to the students of DCHS for all the times when your cooperation was vital to the publication of the book.

and a very special thanks to Mr. Jack Sanders for his excellent art work throughout the book, and for his time and concern, but most importantly, for all his patience. We couldn't have done it without you.

Throughout the years, we hope this book can be remembered and how it showed that all at DCHS had the Oracle's spirit and proved that The Oracle Is No Myth.

Our sincere thanks,
The 1984 Oracle Staff
